

Six Prisoners Escape In Spectacular Break From Fulton Tower

Blanket Rope Used To Reach Jail Courtyard

Corroded Roof of Shower Room Is Avenue To Freedom.

Six white prisoners made a spectacular break from Fulton Tower last night by sawing through an iron bar and lowering themselves two floors to the courtyard with a rope made of blankets. Then they clambered over an 18-foot wall to freedom. The break occurred at an interval between tours of inspection at 10 and 10:30 o'clock.

When guards discovered that six of the seven prisoners in a cell block on the second floor of the prison had fled, Jailer Bud Foster immediately organized a posse of policemen, guards and deputy sheriffs to hunt for the fugitives.

Roof Corroded.
The prisoners were put in their cells at 9 o'clock. The vulnerable spot in the prison, guards discovered, was the corroded sheet-iron roof of a shower bath in an outer cell.

By pushing a hole through this corroded sheet iron, one of the prisoners got on top of the shower room and was thereby enabled to reach one of the high, barred windows.

With a saw, the prisoner, it was theorized, must have sawed through one of the bars and bent it back. Other prisoners had meantime tied their blankets into a stout rope, an end of which they tied to one of the bars of the window.

Climb Over Wall.
In this way the six got to the courtyard. They then climbed over the 18-foot wall by the aid of pipes into the yard of Atlanta Milling Company.

The guards found that the prisoners had shaken out the pins which held doors of their cells shut. The seventh prisoner in the cell block remained in his cell. He was Jack Kennedy, according to records at the tower.

The prisoners who escaped were listed as:

Rudolph Chandler, 16, of 136 Georgia avenue.

W. A. Lewis, 38, 556 St. John's avenue.

Mack McLenna, 18, 131 Linden street.

Thomas J. Pierce, 21, 218 Hunter street.

Clifford J. Wilder, alias Aaron Rousey, 28, of 519 Pulliam street.

Ward L. Elliott, 20, of 141 Georgia avenue, who had been put in the tower Tuesday night on a charge of auto theft.

Nazi Forces Reported Moving Near Sweden

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(P)—The Norwegian Telegraph Agency today reported German military movements in southeastern Norway near the Swedish border and said that "many rumors about the position of Sweden are circulating, especially in view of recent attacks made on the Swedish press and politicians by Quisling."

Vidkun Quisling, head of the Nazi-controlled Norwegian administration, has criticized Swedish reaction to recent German measures to put down unrest in Norway.

In southeastern Norway, the agency said, the entire population of Kingsvinger has been removed and blinds of trains passing through the area have been ordered drawn, day and night.

Georgian's Damage Suit To Be Heard in Florida

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)—Legislation conferring jurisdiction upon the United States district court for the southern district of Florida to consider claims of Frank P. Walden, Jacksonville, Fla., and Viola Harp, Silverton, Ga., has been signed by the President.

The measure limits judgments on each claim to $5,000. The claims arose out of an incident near Callahan, Fla., in 1938 involving Walden's car and a Civilian Conservation Corps truck. Mrs. Walden was fatally injured. Also in the car and injured were the Waldens' daughter, Juanita Louise, Viola Harp and her daughter, Marjorie Gayle Harp.

1,000 Georgia University Students Storm State Capitol to Boo Governor's 'Political Interference';irate Yells Mark Protest

STUDENTS BOO GENE ON CAPITOL LAWN—Near-pandemonium broke loose yesterday as approximately 1,000 students from the University of Georgia motored from Athens and staged a march on the state capitol to protest "political interference" by the Governor and Board of Regents which resulted in the university being dropped by the Southern University Conference. Here they are with their placards clustered around the statue of Tom Watson, on which is perched a wax bust of the Governor. The students booed and yelled and sang and let it be known generally that they demanded an independent educational system. Their demonstration was orderly. They made no attempt to enter the capitol as the Governor was in Waycross speaking at the Southeast Georgia Fair. State patrolmen and city policemen made no effort to interfere with the students. Student leaders went to the executive offices with a petition outlining their demands for reinstatement of ousted regents.

State's Leader Absent During Noisy 'Invasion'

Crowd Hoists Effigy of Executive to Top of Watson Statue.

By LUKE GREENE.

Booing and yelling and carrying banners denouncing the Governor, University of Georgia students, approximately 1,000 strong, marched on the state capitol yesterday afternoon.

They hoisted a bust of the red-suspended chief executive to the top of Tom Watson's statue and noisily voiced their protests to the "political interference" which caused the university to be kicked out of the Southern University Conference and jeopardized the accredited rating of all 16 colleges in the University System.

100-Car Motorcade.

A motorcade of more than 100 automobiles, draped with ribbons and placards and bulging with pretty co-eds and angered student leaders, screamed around Capitol Square shortly before 3 o'clock and then marched to the front of the capitol in a body.

Cheer leader Bill Malone bounced upon the Watson monument and directed the throng with his megaphone. He was followed by Bill Trapnell, of Rome, carrying the bust of Talmadge, a remarkable likeness, which was perched on the top of Tom Watson's head.

"Are we scared of Talmadge?" Malone bellowed through his megaphone.

"Hell, no!" chorused the students, as they booed the likeness of the Governor.

Sing Alma Mater.

"We are over here to voice our protests," Malone went on. "We want to start off by singing the Alma Mater."

Co-operatively and orderly the students sang the Alma Mater, as wide-eyed capitol employees and the crowd of observers stood around with mouths open.

Malone then led the collegians in a rousing yell, "Yea Georgia Bulldogs," after which they re-lapsed into a snappy version of "Glory, Glory to Ole Georgia."

The cheer leader waived his hand and signaled for quiet. The jabbering and hissing stopped momentarily.

"Gene Talmadge's crowd already have started their funny business, Malone said. "They wouldn't let us come straight through Atlanta. They took us way out where the graveyards are. But when we start back we're going straight down Peachtree aren't we?"

The crowd yelled its approval.

"Hitler" on Scene.
At this point Frank ("Little Brother") Postero, of Athens, posing as the very image of Hitler, mustache and all, jumped up on the monument, held out his hand in Nazi fashion and jabbered a few lines in German.

One interpreter quoted him as saying: "What Talmadge is doing to us shouldn't be happening to a dog." Postero insisted, however, that he was only reciting a few lines from a German poem. He

Break Through Lines Admitted By Moscow

Armies of Soviet Union Retreat in Face of Great German Assault From the West.

By The Associated Press.
A vast German force of tanks and motorized infantry has broken through the defenses west of Moscow, forcing the Russian central armies into retreat, it was acknowledged officially by the Russian Army today, with the hour of supreme crisis for the Soviet capital admittedly at hand.

The communiqué announcing this staggering blow to the Red armies of the center was issued two to three hours later than the usual post-midnight report by the Soviet Information Bureau.

Peril Is Obvious.
Although vague as to details, it left no doubt of the peril pressing on Moscow and of the Soviet Union with these three sharp sentences:

"During the night of October 14-15, the position in the western direction of the front deteriorated.

"The German Fascist armies hurled a large quantity of tanks and motorized infantry against our units, and in one sector broke through our defenses.

"Our forces opposed the enemy heroically, inflicting heavy losses, but were compelled to retreat in this sector."

There was no phrase to relieve the stark impact of the announcement, no word to intimate that the Nazis might have been checked after this break-through, which occurred more than 24 hours ago. From that point the communiqué went on merely to detail destruc-

Treasury Issue Ex-Klan Chief

Nets 10 Times Amount Sought

Subscribers Permitted to Buy 12 1-2 Per Cent of What They Asked.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)—The Treasury announced today that, because subscriptions for new Treasury bonds totaled $10,446,000,000 while the Treasury intended only to sell $1,200,000,000 worth, subscribers will be permitted to buy 12 1-2 per cent of what they asked for.

The bonds were offered for sale last Thursday. They are 2 1-2 per cent securities maturing in 1967 to 1972.

Additional amounts of the same type of bonds were offered in exchange for $204,425,400 of old Treasury notes coming due December 15. The Treasury said holders of 92 per cent of the old notes accepted the exchange offer.

The others will be paid in cash December 15.

An additional $100,000,000 of the new bonds will be sold for cash to government trust funds.

Air Corps May Bar University Students

Action Likely If Georgia College Is Dropped By Accrediting Association.

By FRANK DRAKE.
Removal of the University System of Georgia from the accredited list of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools — a definite probability when the association meets in December — will mean that no future University System students can be Navy and Army airplane pilots.

The question over eligibility of Georgia students of the University System for Army and Navy positions in the air force arose after the University of Georgia had been dropped by the Southern University Conference Monday on charges that politics are being played by the Governor and his Board of Regents.

Students of the system schools now enrolled in the pilot training courses for civilians at these schools probably would not be affected if they are in their second year of college, because the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools probably would not take the system off the accredited list until next June, if it decides to remove the Georgia institutions, it was said.

Affected would be first-year men who then could not attend Georgia schools and receive credit for their work, and students who enter the schools next year and thereafter.

Cooler Weather Due; Rain Also Predicted
Slightly cooler weather and the possibility of rain varied the weatherman's forecast for today. The temperature will range between 58 and 76, as compared to 64 and 80 yesterday and light showers may fall in the afternoon, the weatherman said.

Court Is Unable to Reassemble Sad Sailor's Shattered Romance

By WILLARD COPE.
His pretty bride of a month seemed hopelessly lost last night to one of Uncle Sam's brawls of the Navy. The shoals upon which his brief romance had shattered proved more puissant for destruction than the majestic powers of Fulton superior court to reassemble and restore.

Disconsolate, Able Seaman Robert Howard Bennett, of Jacksonville Beach, prepared to return to his station, while his bride, brown-eyed and petite, the former Mary Funderburk, of Decatur, was pri-

80,000 Serbs Reported Openly Fighting Nazis

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(P)—A Yugoslav legation spokesman said today that Serbian resistance to German rule had reached the status of rebellion with an armed force of 80,000 led by army officers opposing German rule.

Armed bands are making travel impossible on Serbian roads by firing on every automobile. One group fired a munition dump in an attack on Smederevo, 20 miles from Belgrade, he said.

He asserted that Italian tactics of burning villages suspected of sheltering the rebels have failed and that Axis garrisons control few cities.

FBI Smashes Big Georgia Auto Theft Ring

Breakup of a gigantic automobile theft ring, which operated between Georgia and Alabama, with more than 100 stolen cars to its credit, was announced last night by F. R. Hammack, agent in charge of the Atlanta office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Warrants were issued by the United States commissioner in Birmingham Monday for the arrest of 10 men and four of them were arrested near Bowdon, Ga., yesterday, Hammack said. Others have been taken into custody in other sections of Georgia and Alabama. The 10 charged with violating the national motor vehicle theft act and conspiracy in the theft and transportation of stolen automobiles from Georgia to Alabama, were named as follows: Cohen, Birch Birdsong, James Irving Griffin, Walter Barner Pollard, Clarence J. Alford, John Aleck Payne, Herbert Edgar Richardson, Marcum Lake Tarpley, Neal Thomas McLeod, William Posey, alias Bill Harvey, and James Andrew Robinson. Prices never lower—value never greater. ## Three Bitter Battles Rage in Carolina Games

Blue Corps Holds Off Attack of Superior Red Army.

CAMDEN, S. C., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Three bitter battles raged today in simulated warfare throughout the 10,000-square-mile maneuver area of the First Army in the Carolinas.

In the western sector, Major General Charles F. Thompson's Blue First Corps, in a strong position east and southeast of Chester, S. C., was holding off the attack of a theoretically much superior Red Army, advancing eastward from the Broad river.

In the central sector, the Red 20th Division was putting up a stubborn delaying action against the pursuing Blue 28th, augmented in theory only by the 44th. Major General Lloyd R. Fredenburgh, Second Corps commander, supervised.

To the east, in North Carolina's sandhills country, the 26th and the 44th, representing the Blue defending force, sought by a southward march to outflank a simulated invader from abroad, occupying a line running north and south through a point just to the west of the town of Hoffman, N. C. The operation was carried out under the directorship of Major General Karl Truesdell, Sixth Corps commander.

The Army reminded that these field maneuvers are not won or lost by the opposing forces and that training is the sole objective.

War Games Force Air Route Changes

Plane service to Atlanta will again be affected by war maneuvers, it was learned yesterday when the CAB authorized two air lines to operate temporary routes in the southeast.

Trips from Washington or Richmond to Atlanta will be routed by way of Roanoke and Knoxville and those from Charleston to Atlanta by way of Alma or Macon, or both.

The maneuvers will not begin until mid-November, but the board allowed an extra month to permit the air lines to comply with regulations requiring that pilots and dispatchers demonstrate competency on the new routes.

Duke and Wally Talk to British Sea Veterans

Four Seamen Relate Thrilling Stories of Battle Action.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15.—(AP)—To four British seamen who collectively have had seven ships shot from under them the Duke of Windsor declared today that "they can sink our ships, but they can't break out spirits."

"Men like you will go on fighting, no matter what the odds," the Duke asserted during the last of three visits on a tour of war relief agencies.

Hears Sailor's Story.
During the brief call with his Duchess at the British Seamen's Institute, the former King chatted with veterans who had seen him on World War battlefields, with boyish cadets, with marines of merchantmen gun crews and with seamen from vessels in Baltimore for repairs.

The Duke was more interested in the home of Joseph Reddall, here aboard a British passenger ship which twice struck mines in an English harbor, than in Reddall's story.

The 6,200-ton liner was taking on cargo in Manchester early this summer. At night German planes dropped mines by parachute and when the ship left her pier next day she touched one off.

"We got her tied up. There she stayed for five weeks while they patched her up to bring her over here. Then as we pulled down the river, she hit another one of the blasted things and we went back for six more weeks. She finally got across."

Reddall joined that ship in Manchester after being brought home from Freetown, West Africa, off which his former ship, the 7,472-ton liner Eumaeus, was torpedoed after a two-hour fight last January 14.

Tribute Is Paid To Bishop Candler

A resolution paying tribute to the late Bishop Warren A. Candler was passed unanimously at a joint meeting of the Druid Hills Civic Association and the Parent-Teachers Association.

The session was presided over by Judge Augustus M. Roan, president of the Druid Hills Civic Association.

Part of the resolution follows: "Today the splendid Christian character of the thousands whose lives were touched by his great spirit constitute an enduring monument more precious and more lasting than could be carved from any stone. In the lives and Christian works of these people, Bishop Candler still lives and yields a mighty influence in shaping the destiny of the southland."

German Bomber Flies Low Over Excambron

LISBON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A four-motored German bomber flew low over the American Export liner Excambron as the ship neared European waters, passengers said here tonight.

"The bomber circled twice over our heads, but nothing happened," said one passenger.

The Excambron had a similar experience after she sailed from Lisbon last month, a crew member said.

Bazemore To Run For Councilman

Former Sheriff James D. Bazemore, long active in civic affairs in College Park, announced yesterday as a candidate for councilman for the first ward there.

"I already have been intensely interested in my community's affairs," he said, "and I would like to take an active part in advancing its interests."

The former official, now a laundry proprietor, said he would oppose the incumbent, Harry Looney.

House Groups Indorse Arms For U. S. Ships

'Piratical Attacks' of German Submarines Are Denounced.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The armed merchantmen bill won unusually swift indorsement by house committees today as its supporters denounced "piratical attacks" of German submarines, but six Republicans charged that the administration was seeking war "by subterfuge."

Repeal of the neutrality act's ban on the arming of cargo vessels was approved by the House Foreign Affairs Committee without a record vote only six days after President Roosevelt had termed it a matter of "immediate necessity and extreme urgency."

The Rules Committee followed quickly with approval of procedure permitting house debate on the measure to begin tomorrow.

"Matter of Urgency."

In recommending the revision, the Foreign Affairs Committee said "the recent piratical attacks by German submarines and aircraft on American vessels makes it necessary to consider the repeal of section 6 of the neutrality act of 1939."

"The safety of the crews of such vessels and the success of our program of all-out aid to those nations resisting aggression makes such repeal a matter of extreme urgency."

Late in the day, however, six of the 10 Republican members of the committee issued a minority report calling for recommitment of the legislation for more adequate public hearings and warning that its passage would be followed "as surely as night follows day" by proposals "striking down the remainder of our neutrality or peace laws."

Wickard Tells Of British Need For Foodstuffs

Defends Allocation of Billion of Aid Fund To Feed England.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Defending the proposed allocation of $1,000,000,000 of lend-lease funds for food, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said today that Great Britain's supply of certain vital edibles was "still below a desirable level in view of the shipping situation and the possibility of an invasion."

Wickard told a senate committee considering the house-approved $5,895,000,000 lend-lease appropriation that an investigation by aides who visited England indicated the amount of dairy products, meat, poultry and fruit the British were receiving was "far below the standard necessary for good health and efficient production on the part of the civilian population."

Denies Inconsistency.

Wickard submitted a letter denying any inconsistency in the proposed $1,000,000,000 food allocation with statements by Lord Woolton, British food minister, that England had larger stocks now than at the beginning of the war. Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, had inquired about this.

Wickard replied that Woolton referred specifically to wheat and sugar. Neither of these products, the secretary pointed out, ordinarily was exported to England and none had been purchased with lend-lease funds.

Knudsen's Outline.

The committee received from William S. Knudsen, director of the OPM, an outline of the defense production schedule calling for a $56,000,000,000 outlay before the end of 1943.

Chairman Adams, Democrat, Colorado, said Knudsen told the committee that production was gaining by tremendous strides. Knudsen displayed charts covering the $50,000,000,000 he said already had been made available, adding that the proposed $5,895,000,000 program would be superimposed on this schedule.

Food for Defense Program Pays Off

A Food for Defense program launched in Fulton county last May is beginning to pay dividends. A. P. Jones, county Farm Security Administration supervisor, reported yesterday.

Farmers who participated are now selling fryers and broilers, and pullets have begun laying, Jones said. The estimated 2,000 added hens will lay 16,666 dozen eggs a year, and 10 cows added since May will produce 62,828 pounds of milk, he said.

In Region V of FSA (Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina), 2,000,000 pullets and 20,000 cows have been added, Jones said.

UNION CITY SERVICE.

UNION CITY, Ga., Oct. 15.—Dr. J. H. Fuller, who is holding a revival at Morganton, will preach at both services here Sunday at the Baptist church, it is announced.

Georgia Alumni Chief, Campus Leaders Confer

Judge Goodrich Offers To Appear Before Committee Here.

GRiffin, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Judge Lucien P. Goodrich, president of the Georgia Alumni Society and one-time member of the Board of Regents, conferred tonight with four campus leaders from the University of Georgia concerning the possibility of the school losing its accredited rating.

He told the group that as president of the Alumni Society and as an individual alumnus of the university he would do everything in his power to see that the university does not lose its standing.

Goodrich said he would communicate with Chairman Sandy Beaver of the Board of Regents and offer to appear before an investigating committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, an official accrediting agency, when the committee holds a hearing in Atlanta November 3.

"The people who are being hurt are the boys and girls at the university," Goodrich said.

When asked if a meeting of the Alumni Society could be held, Goodrich told the group that the constitution provided only one meeting a year, at commencement, and that the board of managers would meet in November, so he did not think it advisable to call a meeting of the society at this time.

The alumni president said he was opposed to the society getting into anything that might be turned into a political squabble, but that whatever action any individual alumnus might take was "his or her own business."

The campus leaders conferring with Goodrich were Alpha Fowler Jr., Bob Norman, president of the Sphinx Honor Society; Mort Peeples, president of the senior class; and Mather Hyatt, president of the Ag Economic Club.

"HITLER WITH TALMADGE"—Frank (Little Brother) Postero, of Athens, represented Adolf Hitler yesterday afternoon when the University of Georgia students staged their demonstration against the Governor. Here he is with his pal, a wax bust of the red-suspended chief executive. Young Postero made a short "speech" in German, which went over big with the crowd.

State Colleges' Enrollment Off, Especially at Storm Centers

Student enrollment at the senior colleges of the University System of Georgia totaled 9,478 for the school year just opening, a decrease of 674 from 1940, final figures showed yesterday.

About 80 per cent of this decrease was at the university in Athens and the Teachers' College at Statesboro. These schools became storm centers last summer when the Board of Regents at the request of the Governor declined to re-employ Dr. Walter Cocking as dean of education at the university and Dr. Marvin Pittman as president at Statesboro.

T. W. Reed, registrar, said the Athens enrollment was 2,978, off 400 from last year. At Statesboro, 350 students were listed, against 506 in 1940.

The only institutions showing increases were Georgia Tech, which gained 74 to 2,835, and the medical school at Augusta, up to 210 from 178.

Comparative figures on other senior colleges showed the University System center with an enrollment of 1,602 this year against 1,640 last year; Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville 1,189 against 1,340, and the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta 316 against 349.

'Anti-Mob' Mother Set for Daughter

An irate mother stood nervously twiddling her thumbs yesterday just before the motorcade of University of Georgia students arrived at the state capitol for their demonstration against the Governor.

"I just better not catch my daughter in that mob," she said, her eyes flashing. "Why, the very idea. If I catch her in that bunch, I'll give her a good piece of my mind."

She said she was a Talmadge supporter and was in favor of his policies, adding she thought some more educators ought to be kicked out of the University System.

Pay Raise Plea Voted By Teachers

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Citing rising living costs and low salaries now paid, teachers attending the second district conference of the Georgia Education Association here today approved a resolution asking for a 25 per cent raise in salary.

The resolution asked that the increase be granted by the State Board of Education "as soon as practicable."

The conference also voted unanimously that plans for federal aid to state school systems be approved.

Meeting at municipal auditorium the approximately 1,400 teachers in attendance heard Superintendent G. F. Elkan, of Bainbridge, state that 50 per cent of Georgia teachers are now receiving the maximum salary of $80 per month. This is an average of $1.94 a day on annual basis, Elkan said.

Earlier, the teachers heard Congressman E. E. Cox assert that propagandists have "invaded our federal bureau and created and erected a hierarchy above and beyond all but their own laws."

A Three Days' Cough is Your Danger Signal

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

John Claypool Is Elected Head of Gray Vets

General John M. Claypool, 95-year-old soldier who fought in the Battle of Atlanta and almost lost an arm, was elected commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans yesterday to succeed General Julius F. Howell, who refuses to call a reunion this year.

At the same time the men who once so strongly opposed the union adopted a resolution expressing their approval of "the foreign policies of the present administration in Washington in its effort to extend to the opponents of Nazism the full material resources of this republic."

The Sons of Confederate Veterans and the Order of the Stars and Bars also passed the resolution. A copy was ordered sent to President Roosevelt.

General Claypool, of St. Louis, was one of three past commanders who overruled General Howell and called for a reunion. McWhorter Milner, of Atlanta, was named commander-in-chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans and General Homer Atkinson was re-elected commander-in-chief of the Order of the Stars and Bars.

UCV departmental commanders elected were: General Homer Atkinson, of Petersburg, Va., Army of Northern Virginia; General J. W. Moore, Selma, Ala., Army of Tennessee; General John W. Harris, Ardmore, Okla., Army of Trans-Mississippi.

Other SCV officers: Walter L. Hopkins, Richmond, adjutant-in-chief; Dr. Marshall Wingfield, Memphis, historian-in-chief; departmental commanders, Dr. Baylis H. Earle, Greenville, Army of Northern Virginia; John P. Moore, Huntsville, Ala., Army of Tennessee; Lee Meriwether, St. Louis, Army of Trans-Mississippi.

Bars officers: vice commanders-in-chief, Dr. George Bolling Lee, New York City; Lieutenant Colonel Edgar Erskine Hume, Carlisle Barracks, Pa.; John L. Strohl, Mt. Morris, N. Y.; adjutant general, Cadet William Morrison Wood, Old Hickory, Tenn.; quartermaster general, Major General B. F. Cheatham, U. S. A., retired, Stratford, Va.; judge advocate general, William Scott Hancock.

The Georgia division elected General H. T. Dowling, of Griffin, to succeed State Commander General J. R. Jones, of Atlanta.

General R. P. Scott, of Dallas, was elected honorary commander-in-chief for life. The only other General R. E. Bullington, of Mem-veteran to hold this distinction is phis.

Students Mobilize 'Taxi Army' For Protest Drive to Atlanta

By FRANK DRAKE.

The student body of the University of Georgia staged the longest motorcade in its history yesterday in the march on the state capital to protest political interference by the Governor in the University System of Georgia.

The parade of cars, all types and models, including taxis, extended more than four miles over the winding highway from Athens to Atlanta and every car was filled just a little bit beyond capacity with shouting students, demanding that their university not be dropped from the accredited lists.

It looked like the "taxicab" army of Paris in the first World War in a way. Students had chartered virtually every cab in Athens for the trip, as well as piling into all the campus wrecks and the other cars they could find.

Businessmen Join. Many Athens businessmen crowded five and six students into their cars and, bedecked with the flowing colors of red and black, joined in the invasion.

A sound-amplifier occupied a truck and students kept up a roaring greeting to all and sundry along the 68-mile route from the campus to the capital. "We don't want a discredited university," they yelled. "Restore the University System to a nonpolitical basis," and "Down with politics" floated in stentorian tones over the countryside.

Alpha Flower Jr., campus leader, in a model "T" painted with school colors, and a group of representative students led the 'cade immediately behind a motorcycle police escort.

Citizens of Atlanta, Decatur and Avondale and the other towns through which the procession passed gathered along the streets and roadsides to cheer the aroused university students.

One elderly man in Decatur, so excited he didn't know what to do, tried to "shin" up a telephone pole just to show the students his sympathy.

Reviewed at Agnes Scott. Atlanta welcomed the paraders, waving and shouting encouragement from office windows and sidewalks as the howling throng, with horns going full blast, passed along.

Agnes Scott girls by the scores lined the fences as the University student body passed in review.

There is no danger that Agnes Scott will be removed from any accredited list, such as the danger facing the Georgia students, but there was no doubt where the sympathy of the Agnes Scott girls pointed. In fact, the motorcade definitely slowed down to a dragging walk when it rolled by that institution of higher learning. Crowds gathered on the lawns of the state capital an hour before the students arrived. They cheered the orderly and dignified manner in which the students, hundreds of boys and girls, conducted their protest to the Governor.

FOUR-MILE-LONG MOTORCADE—That motorcade of University of Georgia students who marched on the capitol yesterday reached all the way from somewhere to somewhere, but a conservative estimate was that it extended for at least four miles. Here are part of the cars all lined up on the Athens-Atlanta highway outside of Atlanta. The motorcade consisted of virtually every type of vehicle from collegiate "flivvers" to open-top limousines. Packed in the cars were an estimated 1,000 men student leaders and co-eds. Police rerouted them around Atlanta to avoid a traffic tieup. At the left is visible the "hump" of Stone Mountain.

cated co-education of the races. The good Negroes of Georgia do not want that. The white people of Georgia do not want that."

He asserted "The Regents are united in the stand that they have the right to hire and to fire professors in the state university system," and added:

"A self-appointed agency from outside the state, with most of them helped by the Rosenwald fund, have undertaken to prescribe to Georgians what they shall do with their own university. I am glad to see the Rosenwald fund help Negroes and help whites, but I do not want any of those aided by any fund to advocate co-education of the races."

Students Orderly.

The students were orderly throughout the demonstration. They made no attempt to enter the capitol, although this suggestion was made several times. State patrolmen and city policemen were on duty, but made no effort to restrain the students. Shortly before the motorcade arrived, Mobley conferred with two state patrolmen in the Governor's office.

As soon as the demonstration had been completed, Kenyon and Norman thanked the students for their co-operation and urged that they be careful in driving back to Athens, pointing out that the motorcade had been successful.

Students from the Georgia Junior College in Atlanta joined in with the university and carried a placard saying: "The Georgia Junior College is With You, Athens." No Tech banners were noticed in the crowd.

"Red" Barron Present.

David I. (Red) Barron, of Monroe, who caused a similar demonstration several months ago at Georgia Tech when it was rumored the Governor planned to make him vice president of Tech, was on hand for the protest meeting.

Glimpsed in the Governor's office, he was asked his impression of the demonstration.

"I thought it was very orderly," he replied.

Others in the chief executive's office were heard to murmur that "it was disgusting."

A large crowd gathered for the demonstration long before the motorcade arrived. It was scheduled to arrive at the capitol about 2 o'clock, but was 45 minutes late because a police escort would not allow it to come straight into the city. Chief M. A. Hornsby explained this move was ordered to prevent a traffic tieup.

Drive Around Capitol.

Before stopping, the motorcade circled the capitol with horns blowing continuously. Many of the cars were decorated with red and black streamers. Scattered among the automobiles and just plain "flivvers" were several taxicabs. The students leaned out of the windows and waved to the crowd waiting on the capitol steps. The crowd began to disperse and run to the edges of the capitol lawn to watch the cars stream by.

Co-eds apparently had no trouble in getting permission to make the trip, for there seemed to be about as many of them as there were men students. Many of them carried banners with as much enthusiasm as their men leaders.

As soon as the activities were over, the students piled into their cars and sped down Peachtree street on their way back to Athens.

Campus Leader Fowler and Norman headed a delegation which left Atlanta for Griffin to confer with Judge Lucien P. Goodrich, president of the Georgia Alumni Association. Norman said the delegation would ask Judge Goodrich to back the students in their fight and make a statement of behalf of Georgia alumni.

Regent W. S. Morris Declares He Is Still Opposed to Ouster

State Regent W. S. Morris issued a statement at Augusta last night concerning an "erroneous impression" he said several friends had gathered regarding his position on the ouster of Dean Walter D. Cocking of the University of Georgia's School of Education.

The president and publisher of the Augusta Chronicle said "several of my friends have told me they gained the impression from Monday morning's story about the Southern University Conference meeting in Birmingham that I had reversed my position, and appeared before the committee with the Governor and other Board of Regents members to defend the ouster of Dean Walter D. Cocking of the University of Georgia."

Cocking was ousted by a 10-to-5 vote of the regents, Morris voting with the minority, on Talmadge's charges that the educator advocated racial co-education.

Recalling that he had voted against dismissal of Cocking, Morris said any impression that he had reversed his position was "erroneous" and added, "I feel exactly the same way about the issue as I did when I cast my vote with the minority members of the Board of Regents against his ouster."

"I did not go to Birmingham to defend the dismissal of Cocking," he continued. "My only purpose in appearing before the committee of the Southern University Conference, along with the Governor and other members of the Board of Regents, was to do what I could in the interest of the University of Georgia, and to try to prevent the committee from asking our state university to withdraw its charges that the educator went over big and had to pose several times for photographers.

When the preliminary ceremonies were over, Dick Kenyon, of Gainesville, president of the Pan-Hellenic Council, took the microphone and read the petition to the Governor in which the chief executive was asked to restore the political independence of the Board of Regents by calling for the resignations of all members appointed by him after the first Cocking trial.

The students remained quiet while their spokesman delivered their message, at the same time gripping their placards, some of which read:

"Talmadge, phony."

"Act like a Georgia alumnus, Governor."

"Governor, a good many of us were your friends until now, but we can't be in 1942 unless you do something."

"We don't want to go to a discredited institution."

"We want an accredited university. Down with politics."

"The voice of young Georgia demands that we eliminate politics."

$82,000,000 Pay Increase Too Much, Consolidated Says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Asserting that a recently negotiated wage agreement would "break" his company, the president of Consolidated Aircraft Corporation said yesterday that he would not sign the agreement without assurance of financial aid from the government.

The president, Major R. H. Fleet, spoke at a luncheon in San Diego honoring Sidney Hillman, labor chief of the Office of Production Management.

The wage settlement increased by 13 cents an hour the pay of workers making more than 65 cents, and boosted beginners to 60-75 cents from 55-65 cents. Fleet said the contract would cost Consolidated $82,000,000.

The company holds orders for more than $750,000,000 bombers.

Tank Strike Halted.
CIO workers at the Hillsdale, Mich., Steel Products Company bowed to a request of the defense mediation board and called off a strike which had slowed up 70 per cent of Army tank production. The dispute was referred to the board in Washington after a federal labor conciliator had failed to bring about a settlement in conferences held in Hillsdale Monday.

day. In announcing the union's decision, R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO-United Auto Workers Union, said in Detroit that negotiations would be continued before the board.

CIO pickets marched peacefully outside the gates of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation's plant at Gary, Ind., with the avowed purpose of inducing all employees of the world's largest steel mill to become members in good standing of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee.

No Violence.
No violence was reported and the plant was operating. Non-union men were permitted to enter, but the pickets were instructed to bar from the mill all union workers whose cards showed their dues to be in arrears.

Other labor developments:
Washington—A strike at the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation, Pascagoula, Miss., was certified to the Defense Mediation Board. The Labor Department said the walkout was called Monday by the AFL Boilermakers' Union, following a reported attempt by some pipe welders to form an independent union.

San Diego—A master agreement prohibiting strikes and lockouts in the San Diego building industry was hailed by officials as a model for the nation to adopt to prevent industrial strife. B. Folsom Jenkins, president of the San Diego chapter of the Building Contractors' Association of California, said the plan adopted last February by the contractors, labor, material houses and financing institutions had brought labor peace in the industry there.

Washington—The United Mine Workers' Journal said that the 30-day strike truce in the captive mine controversy was nearing its end with no settlement in sight. The truce expires on October 19, the union said. Under it, 40,000 union miners went back to work after a strike in the captive mines, which are owned by half a dozen steel companies. If the controversy is not settled by October 19, the union reserves the right to renew the strike on three days' notice.

Argentina Awaits Nazi 'Recall' Note

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The Argentine cabinet was reported today to be awaiting Germany's answer to a note suggesting the recall of German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann for "consultations" from which he apparently would not return here.

By the reported move the cabinet would side-step the chamber of deputies' implicit demand for his ouster from Argentina for abuse of diplomatic privileges, and thus avoid international embarrassment. Von Thermann has been named as a chief of undercover Nazi organizations here.

The cabinet's recent dissolution of the Buenos Aires municipal council led Rodriguez Araya, a radical party member of the chamber of deputies, to call on party leaders to consider institution of impeachment proceedings against Acting President Castillo. He charged that "an anti-democratic revolution is on the march in this country."

AFL Defeats Move To Elect G. E. Browne

Convention Refuses To Name Him to Vice Presidency.

SEATTLE, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor overwhelmingly rejected George E. Browne, indicted head of the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees, as an AFL vice president today after taking a stand earlier in the day against racketeering or law breaking in any form within the labor movement.

The vote against the re-election of Browne as 11th vice president was 37,944 to 421. Browne was absent from the convention. He is on trial in New York on a charge of extorting $550,000 from motion picture firms.

The successful candidate for 11th vice president was Edward Flore, of Buffalo, president of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union and the incumbent 12th vice president.

The convention earlier amended its constitution to reduce the number of vice presidents from 15 to 13. The executive council had recommended the action to expedite the obtaining of quorums for council business, but delegates saw the move as aimed at ousting Browne.

The convention also urged the government to put more labor men in responsible positions and then re-elected President William Green to the post he has held since 1924.

The federation's anti-racketeering resolution said criminal prosecutions were a matter for the courts, but that "the millions of men and women who belong to trade unions will not tolerate the racketeer, the gangster and the criminal in their midst. They will eliminate him."

It "calls upon its affiliates to take prompt action whenever racketeering, wrongdoing, or other crime is engaged in by any of its officers or members, which tends to bring dishonor on the trade union."

Also the federation "directs all central bodies to refuse the seating of any delegate from a union who has been convicted of serious wrongdoing, which reflects dishonor on the trade union movement; and such delegate, if convicted after being seated, shall be unelected by such central labor body."

Higher Prices Sought By Potato Growers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Representatives of the nation's potato growers insisted before the House Agriculture Committee on the enactment of marketing legislation to increase the price of their product.

They appeared in behalf of a proposal by the Agriculture Department that a marketing quota program be placed into effect, contending the present price of potatoes was far below "parity"—a price level figured to give farmers purchasing power they had from 1909 to 1914.

The growers said, however, that the department's proposal be strengthened by writing into it specific price supporting provisions either through a detailed diversion program or a low system.

"I doubt if potato growers would vote for marketing quotas unless there were specific price supporting provisions," said Harold L. Simonson, Long Island, N. Y., grower.

North Railroad Street Widened in Calhoun

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
CALHOUN, Ga., Oct. 15.—City council at the meeting Monday night authorized the widening of North Railroad street, between Court and Othealoga streets, nine feet, and work is now under way on the project. The thorny hedge at the edge of the park has been removed and the street will extend into the park area.

During the past five or six years Railroad street has become one of the busiest streets in the city, and the project will greatly relieve congestion of traffic in this block.

Bands Ordered Off Sustaining Broadcasts

CBS, NBC Affected; Action Follows Pittsburgh Dispute.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP)—James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians (AFM), today ordered all bands off the sustaining programs of Columbia Broadcasting System and National Broadcasting System networks.

The union said the order resulted from a dispute with two radio stations in Pittsburgh—WJAS, CBS outlet, and KQV, NBC outlet there. The union has been deadlocked with these stations over a demand that they engage 11-man sustaining orchestras.

A statement disclaiming responsibility for the strike was read over the Columbia network this afternoon at the hour the Columbia Concert Orchestra's program was scheduled.

The announcer said the strike prevented presentation of the program, and continued:

"The Pittsburgh station is neither owned nor operated by Columbia and Columbia has no control over the terms or conditions under which that station employs musicians."

At 5:15 p. m. (EST), NBC announced its schedule had not yet been affected, and no official notice of the strike had been received.

The Navy band from Washington, one of the nation's great bands, will play and the oath of enlistment will be administered by Lieutenant Stanley A. Jones, naval recruiting officer here, with the parents of the new seamen invited to attend.

Remain on Atlanta.

After the induction the men will be sent by special train to Norfolk for six weeks at the training station there. After that they will have 10 days to two weeks leave and will return to station to begin training in one of the trade schools by which the Navy gives its men schooling in 54 skills, ranging from aviation mechanic to blacksmithing.

They will join the Atlanta as soon as the ship is finished, and will not be transferred from it throughout the service.

Georgians Eligible.

Two types of enlistments will be accepted—in the naval reserve for the duration of the emergency, or in the regular navy for a period of six years. Both carry with them assignment to the Atlanta and both give the trade school training.

Age limits for enlistment in the Regular Navy are 17 to 31, in the Naval Reserve from 17 to 50.

Anyone wanting to serve on the Atlanta, when he will be with men he knows, is urged to file his application immediately with the naval recruiting station at 320 Old Post Office building here. Men not only from Atlanta, but from all of Georgia are eligible for service on the newly christened cruiser, the fastest naval ship afloat.

Colonel Harry F. Hazlett, commander of the 29th Infantry regiment at Fort Benning, reviewed his troops for the last time yesterday, terminating 39 years of field soldiering.

Relieved of command of the crack outfit, Colonel Hazlett has been assigned to a staff post in the office of the chief of infantry in Washington. Lieutenant Colonel Laurence E. Kaiser, executive officer, assumed command of the regiment.

SEEK ATLANTA CREW—Chief Petty Officers G. L. Cahall, left, and Robert E. Bankston, right, of naval recruiting station at 320 New Post Office building here, announced yesterday that Atlantans and Georgians who volunteer for service on the new light cruiser Atlanta will be sworn in at public ceremonies at the city auditorium, marking Navy Day October 27.

view was attended by Brigadier General Fred C. Wallace, acting Fourth Motorized Division commander, and Brigadier General Harold R. Bull, assistant to the division commander.

SOLDIER MAKES TOUR OF DUTY PAY OFF

Contrary to what the author of that song, "You'll never get rich—" thought, a Camp Wheeler private is doing all right for himself with a few sidelines to soldiering.

His basic training completed, the soldier is waiting around for his transfer to an Army organization and picking up cash at the following rates:

Field packs rolled, 10 cents. Shoes shined (to meet Army inspection), 15 cents. Substitute for kitchen police, $2 a day. Fireman duties, special contract prices.

NAVY ORNANCE PLANT OPENS AT MACON

The Navy's new ordnance plant at Macon is at work, but it was too busy to stop for official dedicatory ceremonies. First workers are on the job and at least 200 men and women are expected to be at work within a few days. Captain A. C. Lindoff said dedicatory ceremonies might be held in November. If they are, Secretary Frank Knox and naval officials will be invited.

GENERAL FRANK TO DIRECT EXERCISES

Preparations were made at Tampa, Fla., last night for the departure by air today of Brigadier General Walter H. Frank, commanding officer of the Third Air Force, Interceptor Command at Charlotte, N. C., where he will set up headquarters for the Army's air warning service exercises to be held in three states, October 20-26.

It will be the job of this newly formed branch of the Air Corps, working with volunteer civilian observers and message handlers, to detect and plot the progress of "hostile raiders" during the exercises in the largest scale test yet of civilian participation in air raid precautions.

The Third Interceptor Command will work in conjunction with the staff defense councils of North and South Carolina and Georgia, which have provided the personnel for the airplane spotters at a gridiron of observation posts and also in the filter centers, where the observers' messages will be received, evaluated and information plotted.

During the exercises, there will be simulated large scale bombing raids by planes stationed at Langley Field, Va., and Jacksonville, Fla. The "raiders" will be intercepted by pursuit squadrons stationed at Charlotte, Wilmington, and Fort Bragg, N. C.; Columbia and Charleston, S. C., and Augusta and Savannah, Ga.

PERSONALS.

Captain Dean Rusk, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Rusk, of 1511 Morningside Drive, has been assigned to duty with the War Department general staff at Washington. He has been on duty as assistant in the office of plans and training at Fort Lewis, Wash., since June, 1941.

Private First Class Clyde E. Gable, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Gable, of Tallapoosa, Ga., has been released from the Army at Camp Polk, La., to the enlisted Reserve Corps. He has been serving with the Detachment Medical Department at the station hospital.

John Morgan, son of Mrs. Ethel Vincent, of 35 Barfield avenue, S. W., has been advanced from corporal to sergeant in the 321st School Squadron, at Cochran Field, Macon. Sergeant Morgan is connected with the technical supply office of the squadron, which maintains planes for the training of flying cadets.

Six soldiers at Fort McPherson have been assigned to the cavalry replacement training center at Fort Riley, Kan. They are: Raymond H. Brack, Elbert H. Loggins, Lee R. Dix, James H. Dickson, Herman Young and Jesse G. Matthews. August Vincent and Henry A. Burnham have been transferred from McPherson to the Air Corps at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and Thonda S. Williams has been assigned to the armored force replacement training center at Fort Knox, Ky.

Absurd Situation

Georgia has, in recent days, witnessed an utterly absurd situation at the state capital. It has seen the Governor at the state refusing to ask the attorney general for his opinion on a point of law interpretation, insisting instead that the opinion be sought of an assistant attorney general. The reason for this, of course, is that the attorney general, Ellis Arnall, and Governor Talmadge are not in political sympathy. Whereas the assistant attorneys general were given their appointments by the Governor and would, therefore, be expected to render opinions pleasing to the Governor and his schemes.

This, on its face, is an admission that opinions from the assistant attorneys general are not expected to be primarily honest interpretations of the law, but instead rulings as the Governor desires, regardless of the law in the case. A sad admission for a state whose officials are presumed to be honest in their public and private life.

The Macon News, in an editorial dealing with this situation, suggests that assistant attorneys general should either be elected by the people or else appointed by the attorney general himself.

The first alternative suggestion is impractical and undesirable. Georgia primary ballots are too long already, and additional names, for offices in which the people generally have but slightest interest, should be kept off.

However it is rudimentary that the head of a department, or office, should have the naming of the assistants who are to serve under him and the office he is supposed to direct. It is farcical to expect any head of any department to function for the good of the people, efficiently, if he does not have full control of the personnel of his department.

To permit anyone else to choose such assistants is as unfair and impractical as to place an executive at the head of an important business and withhold from him the right to select his own assistants or employees. And, when antagonistic assistants are forced upon him, it makes the situation more farcical and more dangerous and more unfair.

Certainly, if Georgia wants its department of law to function as it was intended and as it should, the attorney general should have sole voice in appointments of all assistants. And it goes without saying that any ruling on any law asked of that department, by anyone, should be given solely on honest interpretation of the wording and the intent of that law, and utterly without regard for political desires or political expediency.

Otherwise the department might as well be scrapped and its cost of maintenance saved. For, unless its work is done honestly, it is useless.

Funny thing about the ceiling over-prices: The higher it's put, the quicker the customer will hit it.

"Everyone's Working"

Striking evidence of the manner in which the defense and war-aid emergency has solved the problem of unemployment came, perhaps without realization, from the lips of the manager of an Atlanta theater, this week.

Asked the customary question with which outsiders invariably greet a theater manager: "How's your business doing?" this man replied: "Well, we're doing capacity every night, but our crowds have shrunk badly for the afternoon performances. Matinees are 'way off.'"

Pressed as to the cause to which he attributed this paucity of matinee ticket buyers, he explained:

"Well, everybody's working now. There are mighty few folks, able to hold down a job, who haven't got one. And the less the unemployment, the fewer folks there are with idle afternoons at their disposal. Yessir, business is swell at night, but matinees are skimpy. Everyone's working."

Told that champagne is good for hiccups, a western inquirer asks an answers man, "How much?" Just enough, we should think, to keep the disease going.

Important Gathering

Today and tomorrow the Georgia Municipal Association will hold its eighth annual meeting in this city. Membership in the association consists of the incorporated towns and cities of Georgia, with membership fees scaled according to population.

Few more important organizations can be imagined. In the years since its formation the Georgia Municipal Association has become one of the most important and potent factors for better local government in the state.

The program arranged for this year's convention, which will be held at the Hotel Ansley, includes various vital round-table discussions and many important speakers who will bring messages dealing with the immediate problems of all municipalities. The theme of the convention this year is the part municipalities can and should play in the program for national defense. This theme will be keynoted at the opening session, this morning, by Daniel W. Hoan, associate director of the United States Office of Civilian Defense. Mr. Hoan was, for 24 years, mayor of Milwaukee and was called to Washington to collaborate with Mayor La Guardia, of New York, in the civilian defense set-up.

Other prominent speakers include John B. Reeves, district manager of the priorities field service; Francis Shurling, Georgia state director of the office of government reports; John B. Wilson, Georgia secretary of state; George P. Whitman, city attorney of College Park; Spence Grayson, city attorney of Savannah; Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company; Mayor Thomas Gamble, of Savannah, and many others. The annual banquet will be held tonight.

Atlanta for these two days will be host to leaders in municipal government and city affairs from all over Georgia. Out of their deliberations will undoubtedly come findings which will be of vital importance to every city, every community in the state.

Il Duce, who used loudly to insist that "war is swell" is now understood to be leaning to the ungambled Sherman definition.

The Nazis Move Nearer

Discovery of a Nazi radio station in Greenland, manned by at least one member of the Brown Shirt Gestapo, should give halt to those who say German aggression is not aimed at the United States.

Greenland, it may be recalled, is under the protection of the United States, placed there by the free representative of the Danish government in this country. Notice to that effect has been amply published and establishment of a Nazi radio station there is equally ample notice Germany intends to disregard this protection.

We do not know, as yet, whether shooting took place. Obviously a radio station established for the purpose of sending information vital to the prosecution of the war would be guarded by armed forces of the nation which established it. And it is difficult to conceive of such a party yielding gracefully to forceful seizure.

Such a radio station is vital in the charting of weather over the British Isles. Weather "Moves" from west to east, affording the British knowledge of probable weather conditions over Germany, whereas the Nazis are "blind" to weather over Britain without information from advance stations, either on the north Atlantic or in Greenland. Naturally, such a base also could be expanded for use as a submarine base, an air base or other uses seriously endangering this country. Bombing operations from Greenland would bring the port of Halifax and the northeastern coast of the United States within the range of Nazi bombs.

So it is that the war moves ever closer. How long will the country listen to the false voices and the selfish voices and be content to sit back, waiting to hear it has been too late, has done too little?

"Millions for defense" would be meaningless, in this age of big stuff, unless it were specified that three zeroes are omitted to avoid crowding.

At a Bristol, Conn., cafe, a diner found a black pearl worth $1,000 in a clam chowder. When the furore died down, the hunt resumed for the clam.

A long and painstaking search of history fails to bring to light any case in which the conqueror was destroyed by psychoanalyzing him.

A bigamist in the east refuses to reveal how he maintained two households on a truck driver's wage. The ethical magicians are like that.

Georgia Editors Say:

GENE'S AMBITION?

(From The Calhoun County News.) Governor Talmadge told newspaper reporters last week that he still had dreams and ambitions. It was on the occasion of his birthday Tuesday of last week. He was 57.

One dream is going to Washington—probably next year; if not back to the Governor's Mansion, and maybe to Washington next time.

And he dreams of another paper in Atlanta he has fallen out with the Journal and Constitution. We have an independent press in old Georgia, thank high heaven! And in his recent "actor playing" only about a dozen papers of the some 150 papers in Georgia supported him. Huey Long journalism is nil in old Georgia! The two Atlanta papers are doing a good job!

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

F. D. R. AND 1942 CAMPAIGNS WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Assuming war events are not far different from what they are today, President Roosevelt, in the interest of national unity, is said to have already arrived at a decision to refrain from taking a partisan political stand in the 1942 campaign, which will see a third of the senate and the entire membership of the house come up for election.

Instead of asking for the election or re-election of Democratic congressional candidates—a procedure that is customary in ordinary times—he is expected to give a broad endorsement of all supporters of the administration's foreign policy. The voters would be left to decide free of White House persuasion where secondary issues prevailed.

REMEMBERS 1918 If this proves to be true, it is not unlikely that a large measure of Mr. Roosevelt's determination was influenced by a recollection of what happened in 1918, when the Democrats lost control of the house after President Wilson made a partisan appeal to the country for the return of a Democratic congress.

Having been a part of the Wilson administration, under which he served as assistant secretary of navy, Mr. Roosevelt is too keen an observer to allow the same mistake to be made again. There is little doubt that he will go down in history as the ablest political strategist the White House has seen up to the present time.

Usually he is well ahead of his political opponents. About the only time he was ever really put on the defensive was over the supreme court expansion plan. It didn't take him long to drop that when the controversy began to develop the temperature of a fresh-baked potato.

FOR SAKE OF UNITY But aside from any question of political strategy, the main purpose of the 1942 campaign would be the cordance with his effort to insure national unity at a time of threatened national peril. Not only is he ambitious to have his third administration marked by an era of good feeling, but he realizes that the demands of the hour require that the nation put up a united front if it is to adequately meet any war crisis that lies ahead.

No president before him in history perhaps has made so many moves toward achieving national unity. It is worth while reviewing some of them lest the public lose sight of his efforts.

NON-PARTISAN MOVES First positive step taken by Mr. Roosevelt as evidence of his intention to give the nation a nonpartisan administration in the face of threatened war involvement was his appointment last summer a year ago of two outstanding Republicans—neither of them New Dealers—to his cabinet: Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox. The latter had been the Republican vice presidential nominee in the 1936 elections.

Shortly thereafter he made an equally forceful gesture for Republican support of the Democratic administration by personally insisting on the nomination of Mr. Wallace, a former Republican, for vice president on the ticket with him.

Later when a vacancy arose in the chief justiceship of the supreme court he gave the high office to a Republican—Harlan Fiske Stone.

In between time in filling the various important posts in the national defense organization he disregarded party lines almost completely by bringing into the governmental picture such industrial leaders as Knudsen, Nelson, Stettinius and a host of others who had no New Deal political predilections.

STRIKING CONTRASTS To give the national defense setup a truly nationalistic flavor he also brought into the picture various other elements representing one shade or another of American political and economic thought. Thus we find men like Sydney Hillman and Leon Henderson working side by side with industrialists like Knudsen and Nelson.

The contrasts found are equally striking when we come to examine the government's appointments. Consider the difference between former Attorney General Robert Jackson, a simon-pure New Deal type, for instance, and his successor as head of the Department of Justice, Francis Biddle, scion of an old Philadelphia family fitting the description of the "economic royalists" Mr. Roosevelt once condemned.

The list could be extended indefinitely. It seems sufficient to show, however, that the President, more than any of his predecessors perhaps, has demonstrated a desire for national unity by deeds no less than words. Refusal to make a partisan appeal in the campaign next year would be the finishing touch.

Two Questions

On Traffic Item.

Coming to town on Tuesday morning of this week I followed the Edgewood avenue route for the first time in months. Knew there was repair work going on on the Edgewood avenue bridge, but had driven that way several times homebound and had no difficulty in getting through, though it was one-lane stuff for a short distance.

So, as I approached the bridge, saw cars crossing it, coming toward me and naturally presumed I could cross in my direction if they could in theirs.

At the end of the bridge one side, my right, was barred, with a sign reading detour. I naturally presumed it meant to detour into the normally left lane of traffic. There was nothing coming to obstruct my passage, so drove on to the left.

Had gone a couple of hundred feet when an irate whistle blew and a policeman jumped out of some place on the bridge and halted me. Waved me back. Hadn't time to ask him how come. I backed up onto the bridge, and detoured by Krog street into Decatur.

Now I want to ask just two questions:

1. Why, if traffic going east can cross the bridge, is traffic going west barred?

2. Why doesn't that policeman stand at the end of the bridge, to turn cars away, if they have to be turned away, instead of lurking a couple of hundred feet up on the bridge?

Certainly.

Received letter containing clipping of news story asking for contributions with which to purchase Christmas gifts for British children who have been bombed from their homes and, many of them, rendered orphans. One dollar buys Christmas, you know, for a child. Enclosed in this letter was check for $2, with request that I forward it to the organization handling the fund, if I knew it to be reliable and okay.

That organization is the British War Relief Society.

If there is any organization of Americans that has done and is doing work above reproach for the British people in this hour of their trial, it is the British War Relief Society. Hundreds of thousands of dollars in money and supplies, ambulances, field kitchens, hospitals and equipment, have been sent to Britain through this organization. Nay, millions of dollars' worth.

All the work, with but rare exception, is voluntary, the time and effort given by grateful women who hunger to help as much as they possibly can. Thus the overhead has been ridiculously low.

Further, the British government gives cargo space free, on British ships, to transport these supplies to Britain. And, again, furthermore, the losses by enemy action have been astonishingly small.

Most emphatically, the British War Relief Society is reliable. It is more, it is a grand organization doing a grand job and if you've got a coat or a sweater, a

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

The opinions expressed by Mr. Pegler in this column are his own and do not necessarily represent the opinion of The Atlanta Constitution.

Offering

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—You probably

TheProof

do not remember

yesterday's living, human document of this fine

American series but, anyway, I started out to prove something and wound up proving how easy it is to wander off your subject.

So today I am going to prove what

I started to prove yesterday, to-wit, that the AFL is, indeed, as I alleged a long time ago, "a great, arrogant, corrupt, hypocritical, parasitic racket which preys on union men and the public and persecutes nonmembers." I also alleged "that it had been getting away with many varieties of crime up to and including murder—for years," but I won't attempt to put up on that in this essay because there isn't enough room in a column. Anyway, the proof has been turned in, day after day, for years.

So now here we go.

The executive council of the AFL is its supreme governing body, made up of Bill Green, president; George Meany, secretary-treasurer; 15 vice presidents and a general council whose office responds to that of attorney general in the government of the United States.

Green, as I have shown, indorses and upholds

crooks in ruling positions in the subsidiary unions, and has been known to take positive action in favor of crooks and against rank and file workers who were suffering persecution by crooks. I wish he would deny this so that I could have the opportunity to rub his nose in the truth in some very public place, but he won't.

The general counsel, or attorney general, is Joe Padway, commonly known as Judge because somewhere along the line of his career

two political, faint-carboned of their old man, the brothers La

Follette, of Wisconsin, put him on the bench in Milwaukee. This Padway is the mouthpiece for the worst band of criminals that ever infested the union movement, meaning the movie employees' racket.

Counsel He is general counsel for that mob which is a department or subsidiary of the slimy Mafia that operated in the Chicago underworld of Cappone and Frank Nitto, and turned the labor racket into a substitute for prohibition. You ought to read some of the quotes out of his own mouth in praise of Gangster

George Browne, the president of that racket, who retained him as general counsel.

I have such quotes in the printed record of their conventions but I haven't room for them here.

Padway won't deny this, either, nor will he or Green deny that they are the character of the mob. The nasty little crook who was sucking the blood of the poor, frow-ing rooming-house porters, chambermaids and the like, and extorting money from the poor dumb

squabblers, many of them ex-salesmen, who flop around in space on leather belts washing the windows of the high buildings.

Padway got $1,000 from this crook, George Scallise, for "revising his constitution," but it happened that he also signed Scallise's application for a presidential pardon when he can have no excuse for ignorance of the fact that Scallise was merely another agent of the Chicago mob. He says he was paid at the rate of $50 a day for revising this marvelous little writing. This would mean that he spent 20 days on the job and if your little boy can't do as much in one day you had better take your little boy down and have the head-feeler give him a general going over.

Padway is general counsel for hotel and restaurant workers, too, and that is another honey. In Miami, where the criminal scum of the union rackets take the sun in winter, one of the biggest locals turned up under the ownership of Danny Coughlan, a brother-in-law of Al Capone, and a mug named Al Berlin. They were shaking down bartenders and those drifters called ginger-ale

Dudley Glass

Rufus Jarman, whose story in this week's Saturday Evening Post about Oglethorpe University, Dr. Thornton Jacobs, William Randolph Hearst and the occult powers of the best publicity man in America—Dr. Jacobs—is certainly going to boost the magazine's circulation in Georgia, is the sire of a male child who has developed vicious tendencies. Rufus is going to have to do something about that.

Said child is aged 11 months and a nubbin and soon will celebrate his fifth birthday. He is known to Rufus and Naomi, who is Mrs. Jarman, by as many names as are possessed by a champion setter in a swank kennel show. Such as Eddie, Thorndyke, Montmorency and Hydro. He is a bit too young to discuss understandingly the arguments between prohibitionists and the liberal element, but he demonstrates certain viewpoints inherited from his father. He is distinctly wet. Every now and then. Mostly now.

But I started out to complain about the vicious tendencies of young Thorndyke—or Montmorency. Tradition is that if a man bites a dog, that's news. Thorndyke, scion of a reporter, must have absorbed that with his bottle. Of milk. Because he tried to bite my dog, which I resent to the utmost.

We were all out in the back yard in the sun, because the house was so cold my teeth chattered even after I'd placed them in a tumbler of water.

My dog, Ding, is a friendly little cuss and extremely fond of babies. And young Thorndyke is extremely fond of dogs. So they began an affair.

What was my surprise and indignation when young Thorndyke, who has only four teeth, attempted to bite the nose off my dog Ding. Who had been licking his face with sincere and exuberant affection.

I'm afraid my dog Ding's faith and trust in the human race has been ruined. He has been hurled out of laps and shut out-of-doors but nobody polly tried to bite him—until young Thorndyke Montmorency de Peyster came along.

Baby Bites Dog—Or Tries To Do So. Is It Heredity?

The Mistress of the Manor is fond of Thorndyke, etc. Indeed, she has borrowed him for the day on occasions when Naomi was fresh out of a nurse and returned him with reluctance. I confess he's nice to have around.

But if he persists in his efforts to bite the nose off my dog Ding, the Glass family and the Jarman family must come to the parting of the ways. Unless Rufus and Naomi consent to put a muzzle on him.

Dry in Them Hills

Chatsworth, up in the northwest Georgia hills, had a bust-down of its water containers for school and sundry embarrassments. Sars Lawson McGinty describes some of its phases in the Chatsworth Times:

"One mother of two active outdoor youngsters told of having to bathe her children in the only water in her small supply allotted for family bathing. After scrubbing off the top layers of grime from two chubby faces, four little feet and hands, she told her husband he could use the water next. Taking one look at the black liquid the father of the family sighed, 'I'd just as soon not get any dirtier than I am.'"

Teachers say it is amazing what kind of bottles have turned up as water containers for school children to bring their drinking water from home. In most of the popular brands of whisky are represented in the row of water vessels checked in the classrooms each day. One small girl has been juggling a gallon bottle of water to school every day for her personal consumption. When several rural children spoke of bringing their water in similar quantities, the teacher began doing all she could to discourage it. "If you all bring that much," she warned, "the bus won't be able to carry the load."

That Explains It

Editor Jack Hilton, of the Banks County Journal, clears up a mystery and also leaves himself an out:

"W. H. Wiley, of Maysville, who operates a cotton gin at Nails Creek, filled up a well at his gin 40 years ago. Last month he decided to open the well to get drinking water for his gin hands. Water being scarce around Nails Creek as elsewhere in this section. At the bottom of the old well he found a set of buggy harness and a pick. Billy says the pick and handle was in good condition but the harness was worthless after 40 years underground. Some thief, no doubt, stole the harness, got scared and threw them in the well. If they didn't get there that way, they got there some other way, no doubt."

Man who told me this swore me not to reveal either his name or his home address, and wild horses couldn't drag the information out of me. It was about an over-the-back fence feud.

Seems this Mr. J. complained to his neighbor, Mr. Q., and if there is any identification with real contemporary or historical characters in this story the coincidence is wholly coincidental.

"Mr. Q.," said Mr. J., "you'll have to poison that dog of yours or else I will. Every time my wife tries to sing he howls."

"Sorry," returned Mr. Q., "but why not poison your wife? She started this thing."

This being the time for sports page discussions about football coaches and the high salaries which woo them from here to there it may be interesting to note that in North Carolina a school principal has just quit his position to accept a job—as mail carrier.

He formerly was an assistant accounting manager for General Motors Acceptance Corporation here.

Girl, 10, Finds Aunt Through Travelers' Aid

Panic-Stricken When She Is Not Met at Train, She Is Befriended.

The Terminal station was an awe-inspiring spectacle to Jessie May, 10, R. F. D., south Georgia.

Wide-eyed, she stepped off the train and followed "the others" up the winding stairs. Quietly, she took her seat in the gigantic lobby and continued to stare.

Aunt Jane was due any minute. But the minutes ticked away into hours. Jessie May's interested amazement suddenly turned to panic.

Slits There All Night. All night she sat there, huddled in the farthest corner of the most remote bench. With her eyes glued upon the entrance, she saw the latest travelers come and go. When the Crescent pulled in at 8:40, she was still there. But her chin was quivering.

Mr. Jones had had a "table d'hôte" on the diner, and all was well with the world. New York was all right, too, but it was nice to be home. So when he saw the quivering chin, he investigated.

Jessie May's aunt wasn't in the telephone book. Nor was "information" helpful. All of Mr. Jones' humanitarian instincts seemed doomed. His spirits were deflated. Jessie May was frankly bawling.

And that's when the Travelers Aid Society took over.

Aunt Is Located. Finding a needle in a haystack is just all in the day's work to its representatives. The particular one whom Mr. Jones approached wired Jessie May's family for Aunt Jane's address. It was on a rural route—no phone. But a telephone call to the postoffice located the mail carrier on the route, and he was able to give the name of a neighbor who had a telephone. The neighbor was asked to notify Aunt Jane. Some hot breakfast and a good cry on her aunt's shoulder mended all Jessie May's woes.

This is one of many cases that confront the Travelers' Aid every day. The society was established in Atlanta in 1900 through the efforts of a group of women who observed the number of bewildered looking young men and women who came through the local depots. Rescuing them, finding them inexpensive lodgings and even jobs, is part of the service offered by this organization.

Last night in Atlanta, 7,928 requests for help came to Travelers' Aid. It is supported by the Community Fund.

Episcopal Rector Dies in Carolina

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., Oct. 15. (AP)—The Rev. Francis H. Craighill, 66, rector of the Episcopal church here for 20 years and a leader in community work, died yesterday. Funeral services probably will be held Thursday. He was a native of Suffolk, Va.

Survivors include the wife, formerly Miss Mary Rees, daughter of the late Bishop of Georgia; five sons and daughters, the Rev. Francis H. Craighill Jr., of Williamsburg, Va.; James B. Craighill, attorney of the Farm Security Administration, Washington; Mrs. Conrad Kinyoun, of Savannah, Ga.; Mrs. Luther Mills, of Camilla, Ga.; and Miss Dorothy Craighill, of Rocky Mount.

Piles—Get Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last 30 years have found a way to get quick relief from the itching and smarting of piles. They use a delightful cooling, soothing and astringent formula—Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." 35c a box, all druggists, 60c in tube with applicator. Money back if not delighted.—(adv.)

OLD-AGE PENSIONERS NOT AIDED BY TALMADGE

Editor, Constitution: I notice Governor Talmadge claims to have greatly increased the number of old-age pensioners on the rolls and, by grapevine or otherwise, has created the impression in the minds of his followers that this increase is two for one or 100 per cent, and that he alone is responsible for the increase.

The facts are: 1. Governor Talmadge is not entitled to any credit for any of the increase in the old-age pension rolls.

2. Governor Talmadge has kept the full increase ordered by the Rivers administration in July, 1940, from being effected.

In July, 1940, the Rivers administration increased the allotments to the various counties of Georgia slightly more than 50 per cent. There were then on the rolls some 39,000 old-age pensioners.

This increase of 50 per cent in allotment of funds authorized the addition of more than 18,000 names to the rolls.

The county welfare directors were ordered to proceed to revise their rolls and add worthy applicants to the extent of the new allotment. The Rivers administration then had over five months to go. The county directors did proceed as fast as investigations could be made and, by the time Governor Talmadge took office, they had added a great many of the 18,000 additions to the rolls which had been provided by the Rivers administration.

Now what do we find? On August 1, 1941, seven months after Governor Talmadge took office, there are on the rolls not 18,000 but 37,000. Rivers ordered put on with the money to pay for same—but 13,000—5,000 short of the Rivers' authorization.

In March, 1941, Governor Talmadge, acting under the unlimited powers granted him by a defective legislature, ordered the 18,000 people's money left there by the Rivers' administration and transferred it to another state department.

You can't pay old-age pensioners when you take the money that has been provided to do it with and hand it to some other department. From the above statement it seems any intelligent man must conclude Governor Talmadge not only is not entitled to claim any credit for increasing the rolls, but has failed to add more than 5,000 of the more than 18,000 the Rivers administration ordered placed on the rolls with the money to pay for it.

DUDLEY GLASS FUNNY CONSCIOUSLY OR NOT

Editor, Constitution: As one from whose brow Dudley Glass has wiped many a wrinkle, and from whose shoulders he has lifted many a weight, through his daily column reflecting the amusing and humorous aspects of our everyday existence, this pilgrim would like to pause long enough in his attempted progress to second the indorsement which his good friend Ollie Reeves this morning pins upon the lapel of said Dudley.

Dudley has always been one of the funniest of existing vertebrates to the writer. Whether writing or walking, sitting down or standing up, silent or articulate, Dudley has always seemed to your correspondent a constant scream. He is one of the few men who can be funny whether he tries to or not. He is the best example of eternal motion and spontaneous explosion in the realm of wit and humor of whom this scribe has any knowledge. If heaven is as vapid a place as it is generally pictured to be, it will take on some real interest the day that Dudley arrives. These sombre and serious times demand more men like Dudley.

And while I am about it—and the opportunity seems so fitting—I would like for Ollie Reeves to stand with bare head so that I might place a modest wreath upon his brow. The tickle of Dudley's humorous touch is tripled every time Ollie heads the procession with his rhythmic rimes. These two boys together are just too good not to go in for national syndication. I wonder what they are waiting for.

WITHERSPOON DODGE, Atlanta.

MARGARINE DEFENSE EDITORIAL IS APPROVED

Editor, Constitution: It was with extreme interest that I read the editorial, entitled "Blatant Sophistry," in your September 29 issue. I want to thank you for the generous defense of margarine to which you have rallied and at the same time defending the interest of the great cottonseed industry of the south.

In a short time I will be able to send you a statement that is being prepared for publication by the margarine institute, emphasizing the fact that margarine is the second largest outlet for cotton seed oil, one of the principal products of southern agriculture. It is our intention in defending our own position from the many attacks on the oleomargarine industry to exercise an equal amount of effort in the defense of American agriculture from unfair trade barriers as represented by restrictive legislation and excessive taxation.

We would like to feel that we are co-operating with you in the furtherance of the sound policy reflected in your splendid editorial here referred to.

JOSEPH W. HICKS, Chicago.

BALLOT LEAKS.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Members of the Clarke county Democratic executive committee said the organization would help prosecute any election official responsible for ballot leaks in the county. A delegation of the League of Women Voters intimated that election aides in some counties had been giving information as to how persons voted, but added they did not think such had happened in Clarke county.

Fund Appeal Trend Higher, Reports Show

Pre-Campaign Checkup Encouraging to Division Heads.

Community Fund giving is on the upgrade this year, early returns at a final pre-campaign checkup by division leaders indicated yesterday.

"While results from a tremendous amount of painstaking advance work are like early election bulletins trickling in from a few scattered precincts, the trend is definitely higher than last year," said R. H. Rich, general chairman of the $575,000 appeal, which officially gets under way next Monday.

"Needless to say, we are all vastly encouraged and will take the field Monday more confident than ever that the people of Atlanta realize the necessity of stepping up their generosity in order to keep the good work of the 34 Fund agencies going." Leaders at yesterday's meeting were greatly impressed by the fact that the quickened tempo of generosity displayed by early gifts applied both to individual contributions and to composite totals from examples of business and industrial firms.

This year's goal of $575,000 is only a shade higher than the 1940 figure, Rich pointed out, although the costs of bare necessities entering into the agencies' service to thousands of people have risen sharply during the national emergency.

A meeting of division and team captains of the women's "neighborhood" section of the appeal forces at 10:30 Thursday morning at the Y. W. C. A. and a rally of the men's central and office buildings groups at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 5 o'clock are on today's calendar of pre-appeal activity.

METAL FOR DEFENSE.

EATONTON, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP) Mrs. J. H. Penick, Putnam county school teacher, is about convinced that one of her chickens was gathering scrap metal for national defense. Dressing a hen for Sunday dinner, she found in its gizzard a piece of tin, a bolt, an alarm clock winding stem and .32 caliber cartridge shells.

Group Nearing Compromise in Police Dispute

Hornsby To Hold Power If Agreement Is Adopted.

Police Chief Hornsby will remain at the helm of the police department and will have more authority than before, if members of a special committee, named by council to work out a compromise of the row over the department's administration, agree Monday to a tentative program discussed at a series of secret meetings held this week.

Although details of the program were guarded closely by committee members, who referred all queries to Preston S. Arkwright, committee chairman, it was reported that substantial progress has been made, and that a proposal, which all members of the committee will support on the floor of council Monday afternoon, has been tentatively approved.

Savage Draws Agreement.
City Attorney Jack C. Savage attended the meeting yesterday and was authorized to draw the revised agreement. Police Chief Hornsby was contacted about certain phases of the proposal and was reported to have given his sanction.

Major points of the reported revised compromise are:
1. Hornsby will remain as police chief and will be given wide latitude in administration. He will stake his future on performance and probably will waive any appeal to the courts if after a reasonable time council decides he has not done a good police job.

2. Merit selection of new policemen, based on the results of mental and physical examinations will be instituted in the department, with the mental examination standard raised to include at least a high school education.

3. Superior officers will be selected by nomination by the chief. The police chief may name three men for each position and the committee must elect one of the three thus named. The officers nominated must also be taken from an eligible list on the basis of merit examinations.

4. Schools for patrolmen will be held so that the department may keep abreast of the latest methods of crime detection, crime prevention and traffic control advances. Several other provisions are included, but all may be revised at Monday's session.

Arkwright has insisted that the compromise should be such that all members will vote for and support it on the floor of council. This is regarded as necessary because of an almost equal division of council in the battle over whether administration of the department shall be vested solely in the chief.

Farmers May Get Seed Loans Now

Farmers may obtain government seed loans at once from the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan organization of the Department of Agriculture, R. H. McElveen, of Columbia, S. C., regional manager, announced yesterday.

McElveen, with J. Trihey, chief of the fiscal section, discussed the emergency caused by the shortest cotton crop in years with L. B. Ponder, of Madison, state supervisor, and his 26 field workers in the state. Applications for loans may be made to receiving agents in each county.

The meeting was held in the local office of the organization in the new post office.

Ordinarily the seed and crop loans are made in January by this oldest of farm credit organizations, which was created under the Wilson administration in 1918.

The purpose of the loans, which bear 4 per cent interest, is to enable farmers to buy seed for winter crops. The crop to be planted is the only security required.

The organization lent $1,561,000 to 12,547 Georgia farmers in 1941.

Mexican Navy Orders Suspect Vessels Halted

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The Navy Department ordered commanders of Mexican warships today to halt and search all suspect ships navigating Mexican waters.

A published announcement said the orders were intended particularly to put a stop to contraband operations like that recently discovered at Manzanillo, on the Pacific coast, where a large amount of contraband mercury was seized as it was about to be loaded on the Japanese steamer Azuma Maru.

Bulldogs Leave for New York Today; Jackets Depart Tonight

Allen May Get Sinkwich's Slot Against Lion 11

Heyward, in Tip-Top Shape, To Start Game at Tailback Post.

By F. M. WILLIAMS.
ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 15.—Captain Heyward Allen, the scrapping little Bulldog leader, who hasn't yet opened a game for this year's Georgia eleven, may be at the tailback slot for the first kick-off against Columbia Saturday afternoon.

Coach Wallace Butte said today he might start Allen in place of the great Frankie Sinkwich against the Lions. Sinkwich has started every game to date, but it wasn't decided whether he or Allen would open against Ole Miss last week until the flip of the coin had decided Georgia would receive the kick-off.

Allen has been sensational in drills this week, running and passing better than he has ever done at Georgia.

SINKWICH READY.
Sinkwich hasn't declined in his practice performances, despite the fact he is handicapped by a broken jaw. He will see plenty of service against Columbia, but it may be good strategy to hold the junior fireball on the sidelines until an opportune moment for one of his sensational exhibitions.

One new face in the Bulldog lineup is certain. Dick McPhee, a sophomore, will replace Ken Keuper, a junior, who is bothered by a slightly injured back.

McPhee has been coming fast all season and in the Ole Miss game he played more than two quarters. Although this will be his first starting trick, he has been under fire enough now not to be affected by nervousness, which characterized his play early this year.

OPENING LINEUP.
If the Georgia mentor sticks to his present plans, the Bulldogs will line up with Poschner and V. Davis at ends. Green Keltner will remain at right tackle, teamed with Tommy Green, and Winfred Goodman will be holding down his old post at right guard, working alongside Walter Ruark. The center will be Clyde Earhardt.

In the backfield, Cliff Kimsey will be at blocking back, and Lamar Davis at wingback. The Bulldogs depart at 3:50 o'clock Thursday afternoon, but the traveling squad was not announced tonight. Final decision on several players will be made tomorrow morning.

Lions Skip Scrimmage For Georgia Tilt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP)—It begins to look like Coach Lou Little intends to send his Columbia Lions into Saturday's game with Georgia without any scrimmage.

This was the regular scrimmage day at Baker Field, and there was no sign of the usual rough stuff. Instead, the Lions took turns at dummy defensive drill against Georgia plays and at trying to pierce the Georgia defense as imagined by the freshmen.

It was announced for sure that Don Snively, the team's great center, would not start Saturday's contest, but it was thought he might see some action if the going became close. Snively has been practicing the last two days.

6,000 Polk Countians Acclaim Whit Wyatt in Cedartown Fete

Casey Calls Fellow Hurler Major's Best; Hero Had Sore Arm 10 Years Ago, Was About to Give Up.

By JOHN MARTIN.
CEDARTOWN, Ga., Oct. 15.—John Whitlow Wyatt is claimed triangularly by Chickamauga, Buchanan and Cedartown. Today he was Cedartown's and Cedartown was Wyatt's.

In uniform, the baldish boy from Chickamauga, Buchanan and Cedartown is one of them Brooklyn Bums, perhaps the most valuable man along the Gowanus. Today he was the idol of Polk county, even if he didn't beat the Yankees.

LARGEST PARADE.
Good old Roy Emmet, whose Cedartown Standard shared the sponsorship of Whitlow Wyatt Day with the city commission, estimated that over 6,000 persons acclaimed their favorite son in the largest and most colorful parade in Polk county history.

Wyatt was visibly stirred by the ovation and admitted that the celebration meant "more to me than the game I beat the Yankees."

"It reminds me of the madhouse that met us when we came back to Brooklyn after winning the pennant. There were over a million people cheering us up there, but this means more to me than all the cheers in Flatbush."

Hugh Casey, the chunky Baron of Buckhead, pinch-hit for Wyatt in a speaker's role and came through with a double. Casey, the Dodger fireman who lost a World Series game after striking out the last man, called Wyatt the most valuable man on the Dodger club and the top pitcher in the majors.

Tech Slackens Pace To Stop Toll of Injuries

Helms Ailing, But Bosch, Anderson, Marshall, McHugh Back.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

Fear of getting more men injured before the Vanderbilt game in Nashville Saturday caused Coach Bill Alexander to slacken the pace of Georgia Tech's workouts yesterday.

With the news that Jack Helms, big sophomore tackle, probably will be unable to play against the Commodores, Coach Alex sent his men through a long but fairly light drill on Rose Bowl field.

Helms, one of the team's brightest sophomore prospects and star of the season's first two games, hurt his knee in Tuesday's drill, but it wasn't considered serious until yesterday. He spent most of the afternoon in the training room before attending practice in civilian clothes.

DUMMY SCRIMMAGE.
The Yellow Jackets got a look at Vanderbilt plays as run by the Red Devils in a dummy scrimmage and the workout was topped off with the varsity running through its own plays.

Despite Helms' injury, the team figures on being in fairly good condition for its tussle with undefeated, untied Vandy. At least, it will be in better shape than it was against Notre Dame.

Johnny Bosch, Tom Anderson, Jack Marshall and Pat McHugh have all returned to workouts. Marshall is still somewhat handicapped by his shoulder injury and McHugh isn't yet able to run at top speed. But all are likely to see service.

TEAM PEPPED UP.
The Yellow Jackets are going through their practice chores with a great deal of pep and enthusiasm despite last week's licking at the hands of Notre Dame. There isn't a man on the team who doesn't think it has a good chance to upset the Commodores for the first time this season.

However, the coaches do not

Sewanee's De-emphasized Bill Doesn't 'Take' Under Gillem

Jenks Has Only Chaplain George Hall To Assist Him; Tigers Are Unbeaten and Untied.

SEWANEE, Tenn., Oct. 15.—(AP)—They "de-emphasized" football at the University of the South (Sewanee), but it didn't take. Tired of being shoved around like a stepchild year after year by their larger and more ambitious colleagues in the Southeastern Conference, Sewanee withdrew from the league a year ago and decided to take on schools of an equal size as an independent.

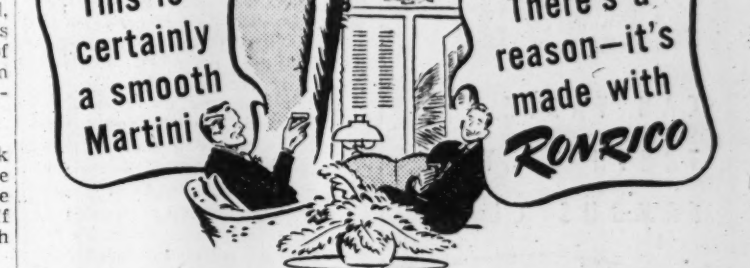

And now look what happened! Sewanee is among the nation's unbeaten, untied teams today, conqueror of Washington & Lee, 20-19, and Davidson, 7-0, both of the Southern Conference, and is looking ahead to its most successful season in years.

The man behind this sudden upsurge in the Tigers' gridiron stock is Coach Jenks Gillem, but a large assist should be credited to the Rev. George A. Hall, Sewanee chaplain who was drafted for coaching service after Gillem's two assistants, Lex Fulbright and Joel Eaves, were summoned by Uncle Sam for Army duty.

There aren't any line coaches,

Boys' High Favored to Win 17th Straight Against G. M. A.

Gordon Engages Tennessee Tech

BARNESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 15.—The undefeated Gordon Bulldogs, fresh from their victory over the Middle Georgia team in Cochran last week, will depart Thursday morning for Murfreesboro, Tenn., where they will play the Tennessee State Teachers' College team Friday night.

Although several outstanding Gordon players are injured and will not be able to start in the game Friday, the lineup is promising, and the boys are confidently hoping to win.

North Fulton, Decatur Play In Toss-Up Go

Purples Have Yielded No Touchdowns in Two Years.

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.
Boys' High's defending state and southern prep football champions will be seeking their 17th consecutive victory at 8 o'clock tonight at Ponce de Leon park when they come to grips with Coach Doc McKay's green but improving G. M. A. Cadets.

Shorty Doyal's Purple Hurricane also will be endeavoring to keep intact their unscathed record for the year. Only two points have been tallied on the Purples in the past two seasons. Ernest Dukehart, who was an all-N. G. I. C. end in 1939 for Decatur High and an all-G. I. A. A. flanker for Rome High last year, blocked one of Jake Cox's punts in the Purple-Rome battle last year, for the safety that besmirched the Purple scudcheon.

IN FAIR SHAPE.
Clint Castleberry, despite a shoulder injury sustained in the Hurricane's rout of Lanier in Macon last week, is slated to be in the opening lineup to try to increase his conference scoring lead. The titlists are in fair shape for the clash. Charlie Furchgott, All-State tackle, injured a knee in last week's tussle, but will see some action. Ed Gordon Clay and Halfback Don (Rod) Paschal will see service despite shoulder injuries which hampered them last week. The ailing members did all right for themselves against Lanier, however. Clay booted six consecutive extra points without a miss and Paschal, who couldn't raise his arm above his head, got loose for an 80-yard touchdown jaunt.

Although they will be very much the underdogs no one can tell the Cadets they haven't a chance, and they will be out there trying to be the first team to score a touchdown on the Doyals in two years. Cowboy Robison, with a leg injury, and Albert Fritchie, with slight injuries and a bad cold, will not be up to par but will play. Thus the kicking, punting and passing burden will fall on the capable shoulders of Henry Dixon, a College Park lad who was not counted on as a starter at the beginning of the year but who has developed into one of the real surprise standouts of the season.

TWO BULLDOGS.
The North Fulton-Decatur fracas, one of the most important N. G. I. C. battles of the season, also will be played tonight. The two Bulldogs were to clash tomorrow night, but yesterday afternoon decided to make the change. The game is slated for the Decatur grid at 8 o'clock.

The Buckhead outfit has won the N. G. I. C. title for the past two years, and is still a powerful eleven, though its victory streak was halted at 24 straight recently by the very potent Rome High brigade.

Smoky Joe Martin has one of his strongest teams at Decatur, though it has had tough going to date. The suburbanites dropped a 20-19 thriller to a good Russell eleven on a night Decatur's two first-string ends, Bobby Sistrunk and Clark Lasseter, were out of the lineup, and bowed again, 21 to 14, to Athens, one of the best teams in the section, last week.

No upset can come from this one, since the two Bulldogs are apparently evenly matched. It should be a great battle to watch.

The Spotlight

By GRANTLAND RICE.

Dim Memories.

(With a quick nod to Mr. Hood.)

I remember, I remember a year ago today.
The doleful Yanks were slipping and had lost their pennant sway.
And Louis, too, was on the skids—a most pathetic sight,
Who took too long to murder bums with either left or right.

I remember, I remember the salty tears I shed
To think these noble heroes faced the soapy chute ahead.
But something must have happened since we saw them dropping down,
For Conn and Nova disagree—and so does Dodgertown.

The Yankees and Next Year.

Seven American League cities, club owners and managers, are already wondering how they are going to keep the Yankees from another common carter next season. So far, they haven't found the answer. Maybe there isn't any answer.

There is certainly no solace at hand in suggesting that the Yankees are growing old. The vital statistics show that a ball player's prime is somewhere between 26 and 30. It is here he has the combination of youth and experience linked together. For example, Ty Cobb was 26 when he had his greatest season in 1911—when he batted .420.

How does this concern the Yankees?
Well, DiMaggio is 27, Gordon is 26, Killer Keller is 25, Henrich is 25, Rizzuto is 23, Sturm is 25, and Bonham, Russo, Donald and Breuer are all under 29.

It's true that William Malcolm Dickey, better known as Arkansas Bill, is 34. But Dickey, at 80 or 90 games, and Buddy Roser, Dickey's understudy, is only 27. Red Rolfe is 33. Ruffing and Gomez are no longer in the kid class. But Priddy is only 22, and there is some first-class talent coming up from Newark and Kansas City.

The Yankees, in the main, are still a young team—a team that is in its active prime. And there is still Joe McCarthy at the head with his team blending influence. No wonder the other American League clubs are in a sadly baffled frame of mind.

For while the Yankees have been mauling all National League rivals with considerable gusto, they also have been mauling their own league just as lustily.

Largest Diver In U. S. Former Trojan Griddler

235-Pound Charlie Diehl Appears Here With Aquacade Monday.

Contradicting every physical rule for championship diving, Charlie Diehl, of New York, 235-pound giant, who will appear with the Water Follies of 1941 at municipal auditorium for four nights starting Monday, has disproven all experts and today is one of the greatest 10-meter board stuntsmen in the nation.

Divers are supposed to be tall and lean, his chest tapering down to thin waists and slim legs. So say the experts. But here is Charlie Diehl, a former football griddler with a wrestler's neck and built solid from the shoulders right down to the ground minus any signs of matinee idol build.

In fact, in his first visit to a pool he was almost laughed out of the tank by the University of Southern California swimming coach. After all, this mentor had never seen a successful heavy-weight diver before and he was taking no chances of Diehl getting hurt.

It so happened that Charlie was enrolled at Southern California on a football scholarship and he was a valuable piece of property, 235 pounds of regular tackle and quite a football player.

Fearing the wrath of the late Howard Jones and the alumni, the swimming coach tried to talk Diehl out of diving. He succeeded in talking him out of the pool, but Diehl just went elsewhere and continued diving.

He signed a pro football contract with the Cleveland Rams after he graduated four years ago and played one season. When the season was over Sam Snyder, producer of the Water Follies, having heard of his diving ability, offered Diehl a job with the show. Charlie accepted and now tours the country with the brilliant water spectacle.

6,000 Acclaim Whitlow Wyatt

a silver platter that even a rookie lefthander could find in the dark. Colonel C. C. Bunn, chairman of the commission, was master of ceremonies and an address by Judge Homer Watkins climaxed the program, which began at 5 p. m. and carried on into the night.

Virtually every business establishment and club in Cedartown were represented in the parade, which was a succession of floats, ranging from gaudily ribboned stages-on-wheels to the exact full of Lions, driving a pair of sober-faced steers who took their stance at the steps of the city hall and pulled on their cuds until cameramen blinded them with flash bulbs.

LIONS FLOAT BEST.
This Lions Club float won the unofficial prize by one hoof over the red caboose getup of the Central of Georgia railroad. The car was loaded with Lions and the Lions were loaded with jugs of artificial mountain dew. "We're pulling for you, Whit," was the slogan of the rabbit oxen.

Wyatt and his family were in the van, pulling out to watch in the shadows of the city hall. In his care were Mrs. Wyatt and three-year-old Barbara; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wyatt, and T. H. McCallie, a brother-in-law.

The Rome High band of 110 pieces put on a ringing musical, but the crowd was noticeably quiet. Here was a great major league pitcher, their own old Whit. They wanted to get a good look.

ABOUT TO GIVE UP.
Wyatt left here with a sore arm over 10 years ago. He went up but hard luck dogged him and he came close to giving up for keeps and going back to the farm.

Today he came back as a champion, a World Series game winner, and above all, a hero to the homefolks.

Wyatt left nothing undone for the Buns and the homefolks have left nothing undone for "good ole Whit."

San Antonio drafted him.

Bramham also said the player drafted by Milwaukee from San Antonio during the Class AA period was Shortstop Guy Miller instead of Pitcher Grover Miller, as previously announced.

Windsor Is Jinxed By Four-Inch Putt

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15.—(AP) The Duke of Windsor missed a four-inch putt on the 18th hole today and lost an opportunity to extend his team match at Five Farms Golf Club to extra holes.

R. Denison Frick and Herman Stump defeated the Duke and his partner, T. Courtenay Jenkins, 1 up. The Duke, firing an 89, was 19 strokes over par on the 70-par course.

River Levee Aids Rome High Eleven

ROME, Ga., Oct. 15.—At last the levee built along the Oostanaula river has come in for some practical use. Since the flood control project was built several years ago there has never been a high water spell to test them out, but now they are used daily.

Coach Sevier Sabin, line mentor for the Rome High Hilltoppers, makes his line men charge up the embankment side of the levee each afternoon in an exercise designed to strengthen the leg muscles and give the boys more drive.

King Living Life of Commoner Whirlaway Now Saddle Horse

Racing History's 3d Biggest Money Winner Resting Until Big Purse Races in 1942.

By CHARLES MOLONY.
LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 15.—(AP) Whirlaway, at three years of age the third biggest money winner in the history of racing, now is leading the life of an ordinary saddle horse.

"He's out of training at present and we're going to give him a couple of months of rest—he won't race any more before 1942," Trainer Ben Jones said today.

"We're treating him just like a saddle horse. He'll get a lot of ordinary riding to keep him legged up, but he won't be breezed for a couple of months yet."

The change seems to be doing Whirlaway good, for Warren Wright's famed colt, you can take it from the genial Jones, "looks fine right now—I never saw him look better."

Whirlaway is resting at Keeneland race course here, a stone's throw from his Calumet Farm home, but he won't be there long. Jones said the 3-year-old champion would be taken to California "real soon—in just a few days" preliminary to going after Seabiscuit's money-winning record of $437,730 next winter.

Whirlaway himself has picked up $349,661 in two years of turf endeavor, and Jones said the chestnut colt would be trained for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap and other west coast stakes.

"If we win the Santa Anita 'cap' the trainer said, 'that'll put Whirlaway up above Seabiscuit's mark. He's a sound horse—I've never seen him take a lame step—and I think he's got a good chance to do it.'"

Morris Brown Faces Trouble In Morehouse

Morehouse College will open its 1941 football season at home with the 1940 national champion Morris Brown eleven Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park at 2:30 o'clock.

Both schools are traditional rivals and all kinds of rumors are going around as to the relative strength of the two teams. Some say that a mystery player will be pulled that will haffle the Wolfers and others are to the effect that the Nickmen are slipping because they allowed the not-to-strong Lincoln University eleven, of Missouri, to score twice on them. Critics had expected the Atlantans to win by a much larger margin than 19-12.

Coach Nicks, head mentor for the Morris Brown eleven, expects one of the hardest games of the year from his ancient foe. He is preparing his team to meet any emergency, he said, after practice Wednesday and as to the mystery player he said nothing.

Tickets for the game can be secured at both the business offices of Morris Brown and Morehouse. The gates will open early to accommodate the large crowd as Morris Brown will be celebrating Purple and Black Day, their annual home-coming to old grads on Saturday.

DUKE PREPARES.
DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 25.—(AP) L. E. Dempsey was shifted to a varsity end post today in the only change expected for Duke's football game here Saturday against Colgate. Dempsey replaced Jim Smith, who went to the No. 2 team. Colgate, in five years of football against Duke, has never scored a point against the Blue Devils.

Scott Relates Wildlife Aims At Convention

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP) Aims of the Georgia Wildlife Federation, including legislation to place the Wildlife Department under a commission, were praised here by Trammell Scott, of Atlanta.

President of the federation, Scott told members of the Coastal Conservation Club last night that 65 active organizations in the state are affiliated with the group he heads.

Scott added that wherever the game and fish department of a state has been "taken away from the withering hand of politics" it has grown into something worthwhile.

Two New Pictures Make Bows; Roxy Will Present Stage Show

Rialto Holds Over Astaire Film; 'Honky Tonk' Moves to Rhodes; Capitol, Closed for Redecoration, To Change Policy.

By DUDLEY GLASS.

First movie theater stage show in months marks the opening today of the Roxy. It's a Marcus girl show, along with a picture, "Henry Aldrich for President."

"Smilin' Through," starring Jeannette MacDonald, starts at Loew's Grand. "Sun Valley Serenade," with Sonja Henie, begins today at the Fox.

"You'll Never Get Rich" goes into its second week at the Rialto. "Hold Back the Dawn" moves to the Paramount and "Honky Tonk" to the Rhodes. The Capitol is closed for a week for renovating and promises stage shows every now and then when it reopens.

Girl Show at Roxy.

The Roxy theater reopens today under Lucas and Jenkins management with a stage show and a picture.

Today and for the week, the Roxy presents an A. B. Marcus stage show. Marcus is a specialist on girls and costumes. He took a show all around the country and brought it back with a profit. He calls this one "Continental Revue," and promises comedians, dancers, musicians and a "galaxy of gorgeous girlhood garnered from the beauty marts of two hemispheres."

the son of the man who killed her aunt.

The picture was directed by Victor Saville, who made "Mr. Chips" and "The Citadel."

'Sun Valley Serenade.'

Sonja Henie and John Payne, with Glenn Miller and his orchestra as background, star in "Sun Valley Serenade," which starts today at the Fox.

In the cast, too, are Joan Davis, the acrobatic hooper, who does a burlesque on the dying swan dance made famous by Pavlova and her imitators, and Milton Berle, the comic, who plays a press agent.

The cute little Sonja with her charming little smile skates, of course. But she also skis. The background is that new playground of the west, Sun Valley. There is a lot of music in the show—with tunes to it.

New 'Smilin' Through'

That lovely romance of stage and the silent screen, "Smilin' Through," starts today at Loew's Grand with Jeannette MacDonald as Mooneyan Clare and Gene Raymond as her lover. In the cast are Ian Hunter, Brian Aherne and a number of popular screen players.

"Smilin' Through," had its theme song of that name, a most haunting number. But M-G-M has made this version a "musical," with many numbers by popular composers, to give Miss MacDonald's soprano an opportunity.

Miss MacDonald plays her first dual role—as the beautiful Moon-mean, who is slain on her wedding day—and as Mooneyan's niece, Kathleen, who falls in love with

Ann Leonard, 3 Others Chosen In Spitalny Audition at Athens

Eighteen-year-old Ann Leonard, of 400 Park avenue, S. E., Atlanta, is going to the University of Georgia to prepare herself for a career as home economics teacher, but she may turn out to be a famous singer instead.

Miss Leonard was one of four girl students picked by Hollace Shaw, the "Vivien" of Phil Spitalny's "Hour of Charm," at an audition at Athens Tuesday night. From recordings made of the girls' voices, the girl orchestra will pick one for a $100 award, a trip to New York, and a chance at the national award of a $4,000 musical scholarship.

The other singers selected with the Atlanta freshman were: Eloise Beckwith, of Athens; Fay Crowder, of Milledgeville, and Sara Florence Rigdon, of Tifton. Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stanley. Her father is in charge of the research shop at Georgia Tech.

Rialto Film Held.

Today marks the opening of the second week for "You'll Never Get Rich," at the Rialto. There was little doubt, after the first two or three audiences and their reactions, that Manager Murray would have to extend the engagement for this scintillating, laugh-producing and brilliant dancing-musical show.

Fred Astaire is at his best, while Rita Hayworth, as his new partner, steps into the dancing shoes abandoned by Ginger Rogers. The songs, by Cole Porter, have that zippy tunelessness and smart wordage that always identify Cole Porter compositions, while Robert Benchley is ideally cast as Frank, a dissolute oldtimer who calls himself Judge.

There is quite a lot of shooting and a mob scene and a glimpse of a saloon of the period—in which Claire Trevor does a fine job of acting.

Capitol 'Done Over.'

The Capitol theater goes dark today and will remain closed for one week while the task of redecorating and refinishing the main lobby of the theater is completed. Work was started a couple of weeks ago on the Capitol which when completed will represent an expenditure of approximately $15,000 in improvements.

The main portion of the theater is being redecorated in a color scheme that is not only pleasing to the eye, but which blends well with the beautiful appointments of the theater. New carpet is being laid on the main floor, mezzanine and in the aisles and all furniture is being reupholstered. All of the seats in the theater have been recovered with green leather.

Along with the renovating the Capitol management also has announced that a new policy will be put into effect when the theater reopens Friday, October 24. It will bring stage shows and pictures three days every week, unless some outstanding road show is secured which warrants a seven-day engagement, and a straight picture program four days during the week, Monday through Thursday, which will feature return engagements of top Class "A" pictures which have been requested. The management is now accepting requests.

Water Pitcher Least of Jugs Husband Gets

Domestic Quarrel Leads to Postal Charge Against Atlantian.

When it started a night or so ago, Joel E. Sherman probably thought an irate wife armed with a water pitcher was all he was up against.

But yesterday he found himself face to face with the might of United States government—Federal Bureau of Investigation and all—on a charge of violating the postal laws.

City Officer William J. Stallings testified at a hearing before Commissioner David J. Meyerhardt that he arrested J. E. Clark and his wife on a charge of fighting after the woman had allegedly hit her husband over the head with a water pitcher. On the way to the station the woman told officers her husband's real name was Joel E. Sherman and he was wanted by the FBI for forging a postal savings certificate, Stallings testified.

In a written statement submitted to the commissioner yesterday, Sherman said he found the check for the sum of $20 in a garbage can back of the apartment house where he lived and that he

Upholstery Fire Gives Holcombe 'Hot Spot'

Instead of the "hot foot," it was a hot seat Tuesday night for Assistant Police Chief A. J. Holcombe.

Chief Holcombe, sitting on the back seat of a police radio car operated by Police Lieutenant C. E. McCarty, felt the seat getting unusually warm.

Police-like, he investigated, discovering the upholstery was on fire. The car, cruising on Hunter street, near the city's garage, was driven into the garage, where the fire was extinguished. The car seat's upholstery was ruined.

signed the name of the owner, May Wills, to it and obtained $10 on it at a downtown hotel. Judge Meyerhardt fixed Sherman's bond at $300.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP)

The long arm of Uncle Sam reached down into Waycross this week and started Lawrence B. Hall preparing for a trip that will take him into China in November. He and Mrs. Hall will make the China clipper of November 18.

He is one of 16 American public health experts, sanitary engineers and entomologists being assigned to the job of guarding the health of 250,000 Chinese workers on the railroad paralleling the Burma road.

Republicans Rap Argentine Pact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The new trade agreement with Argentina, giving canned meat, hides, wool and certain dairy products free entry to this country, was denounced by several Republican congressmen from the farm states today as a blow to American agriculture.

Representative Andresen, Republican, Minnesota, declared on the house floor that the three-year pact invites all countries enjoying "most favored nation" treatment to produce more competitive farm products for disposal in the United States market. Andresen said that after the war "our country will be used as the dumping ground for cheaply produced competitive agricultural products of foreign production" and Representative Johns, Republican, Wisconsin, likewise expressed apprehension that "we will be swamped with these cheaply-produced commodities" after the war.

By GEORGE B. ANDERSON.

"Tell your readers," a housewife writes, "that advertisers who make you read a lot of copy to find out about their products aren't entitled to the consideration that's due advertisers who keep their copy brief."

I'll do no such thing. The question of how long a piece of advertising copy should be is almost as old as "Who Killed Cock-Robin," but has never had as definite an answer.

A good ad contains as many words as are necessary to tell the advertiser's story completely—no more and no less. If ten words will tell the story, eleven words are too much—and if 500 words are necessary to tell the story, 499 aren't enough.

People read an advertisement because the headline or the illustration or both have interested them. If people are interested in what a merchant has to say, they'll take all the time that's necessary to get all the information the advertiser can give them. If they aren't interested, a piece of copy that's so short it fails to tell the story certainly won't create the desire the advertiser is trying to form.

You're far more apt to be irritated by an ad that gets you interested and then fails to answer your questions than you are by an ad that tells you everything you could possibly want to know about a product and some more besides.

A salesman who talks too long may not sell you, but a salesman who doesn't answer your questions certainly won't sell you. Advertising is a shopping guide, and the more complete guidance you get, the better you like it.

Guerrillas Run Italians Into Larger Cities

Germans Call for Help; Town of 12,000 Virtually Destroyed.

ANKARA, Turkey, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Serb and Montenegrin guerrilla activities have become so intense that Italian troops in former Yugoslav territory have withdrawn principally into the larger cities while the German garrisons are calling for more help, well-informed sources with good connections in the conquered area declared tonight.

The guerrilla operations are on such a large scale southwest of Belgrade that entire towns have been taken and held temporarily until German bombers and land reinforcements blasted them out, these sources said.

The town of Uice, of 12,000 or more population, has been captured and recaptured so many times that it has been virtually destroyed, it was said, while heavy damage also has been done at Shabata Ans Zvorkik, both reportedly held by guerrillas.

The Italians and Germans were described as equally stern in reprisals but the Italians were said to be less successful in suppressing patriot bands.

For example, when the Italians called for surrender of guns in Montenegro, only two were turned in, these informants said.

Withdrawal of an armored German division from Serbia for service elsewhere complicated the German problem, because non-armored forces suffer far heavier losses every time they have to recapture a town, it was asserted.

F. D. R.'s Day

By LEE CARSON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(INS)—FAMILY WASH: The Roosevelt family wash will be pleasantly heavier next Monday with a daughter and son-in-law put up in the guest room. Daughter Anna Roosevelt Boettiger and her husband, John, bounded up the White House steps this morning to be greeted by breakfasting Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt. In to visit Ma and Pa Roosevelt for a while, the Boettigers will go up to Hyde Park with them over the weekend, hang around for a day or so next week.

CONFIRMATION: At his usual early morning roundup of the staff, the President decided to confirm the story that Sammy the Rose (Judge Samuel Rosenman) was applying his streamlining survey-taking to the dozen federal housing agencies. F. D. R. gave the go-ahead sign to Public Relations Secretary Steve Early and added that the judge would be ready to shoot the works shortly. One of the many jabs Rosenman's second super-Mickey will straighten out is the tangled feud between Federal Housing Administrator John Arndy and Defense Housing Co-ordinator Charles F. Palmer.

ROMANS: "No connection whatsoever between their returns to the U. S.," but also in to see the President today was Ambassador to Rome William Phillips, following the call of Special Envoy Myron Taylor by only a few days. Conversational subject was Italy—the subject delicate in diplomatic circles just now, as the American embassy in Rome, like the American embassy in Greece, is handling Free French and British business as well as its own.

BELGIAN ALIEN: Following a brief chat with Harry Hopkins' Man Friday, Dave Niles, the President signaled the usher to show in Belgian Ambassador Georges Theunis and Belgian Minister of Foreign Affairs Paul Henry Spaak. They talked a while, exchanged best wishes, and departed.

EDUCATION FOR EDITOR JOHN: After Adding-Machine Harold D. Smith, director of the budget, came and went, leaving a mess of figures for the President to look over, Big Bill Knudsen came in the front door of Mr. Roosevelt's office. Son-in-Law John Boettiger strolled in via the French door opening on the garden. Lunch finally came in, in wagon, through the third door, and for well over an hour Editor and Publisher Boettiger listened to some interesting news about national defense, interrupted occasionally with questions. Daughter Anna and Mrs. Roosevelt lunched without benefit of husbands in the White House small dining room.

AND THE WINDSORS: The White House again today repeated that "there are no further plans" to receive the Duke and Duchess of Windsor on their return trip to Washington.

Gloom Blankets Relationship of U. S., Japanese

Press Warns of 'Trap'; Leaders Hold Series of Consultations.

TOKYO, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Authoritative Japanese agencies spread a blanket of gloom tonight over prospects for a new lease on Japanese-American friendship, and the leaders of the empire held a series of consultations which hinted at decisions of great importance.

Domel, the news agency with close government connections, quoted authoritative persons as doubting that the United States is really trying to maintain peace in the Pacific, and as warning: "Japan is in danger of falling into a trap set by America."

Both Domel and the influential newspaper Asahi dealt pessimistically with the trend of 49-day-old conversations begun in Washington with delivery of a message from Premier Prince Konoze to President Roosevelt. Domel said the "hostile attitude" of the United States was killing the negotiations, Asahi said there could be no end to the Pacific crisis so long as there was uninterrupted military and economic pressure in the Orient from the United States.

The privy council, which is the most important advisory body on foreign matters, met in the presence of the Emperor.

Later the lord privy seal, Marquis Koichi Kido, and Lieutenant General Teiichi Suzuki, head of the cabinet planning bureau, talked with the premier, who also saw Emperor Hirohito. (The lord privy seal takes an important part in negotiations looking toward governmental changes; there have been hints from outside Japan that Konoze may be considering cabinet shifts in view of the troubles he has been having with foreign affairs.)

Konoze and his foreign minister, Admiral Teijiro Toyoda, also saw leaders of the Fascist-like Tokukai party from whom they heard undisclosed demands concerning Japanese-American relations.

Published army orders disclosed, however, that Colonel Hayao Mabuchi, imperial headquarters press chief who spoke out against U. S.-British-Dutch "encirclement" of

Lear Is In Center Of New Argument

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Lieutenant General Ben Lear, of "Yoo Hoo" fame, became the center of a new controversy today when Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, angrily protested that the general was blaming tactical errors of his Second Army on other officers, among them a cousin of Senator Truman, Democrat, Missouri.

Clark told Lear in a telegram that the latter should retire rather than make Major General Ralph E. Truman the "goat" for a "tactical defeat" suffered by the Second Army in recent maneuvers. The senator sent his wire in response to a telegram from Lear, informing him that Truman, former commander of the Thirty-fifth Division, had resigned effective after a leave beginning October 29. Officials here said Truman had been shifted from the command of the 35th to the post of president of the permanent

Dinner in Settlement of Bet To Honor Titled Visitors

By SALLY FORTH.

WHEN PAUL AND MILDRED SEYDEL entertain at dinner at the Driving Club Saturday evening, the affair will be in settlement of a bet made some time ago. Count Byron de Prorok and his lovely Countess, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., formerly of Poland, will be honor guests at the party, though they have nothing to do with the bet.

It happened like this: Just about this time last year when excitement over the coming presidential election ran high, Paul bet Ivan Allen Sr. and Louis Brooke that Wendell Willkie would carry ten states. He won the bet—a hundred dollars—but accompanying the wager was a stipulation that the winner should give a dinner and invite the other two. For one reason or another, the trio has not been able to settle upon a definite date until now.

But come Saturday, Paul and Mildred will be hosts at a dinner, complete with champagne (another stipulation), in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Brooke, and the titled pair who will be guests at the Seydel home on Pace's Ferry road for the weekend.

Count de Prorok will be the featured speaker at the meeting of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs next Monday, you know, and the 16,500 members are eager with anticipation over hearing him. It was through Mildred's influence, of course, that the noted archaeologist, explorer, and author was persuaded to come to Atlanta, for she heads the city federation. He will tell of his discovery of Cleopatra's palace and emerald mines in Africa, and will show his interesting films depicting the civilization of the Queen of Sheba, and history in the making in Africa.

The Count is as handsome and dashing as he is interesting, and he and his charming wife, who is a native of Switzerland, will add lustre to affairs on the weekend social calendar.

AFTER THREE exciting months in New York, Billie Bennett has returned to Atlanta full of enthusiasm and ideas, and has already landed a job for herself. Early last summer Billie enrolled at the John Robert Powers School in New York to learn to be a model. At the end of her two-and-a-half-month course, she was presented to the distinguished Mr. Powers for examination. She talked to him, walked for him, and posed for similar design and they presented two and half yards of it to Dorothy to add to her bridal attire. She will also wear the petite, belonging to her mother, and will carry the hand-made lace handkerchief which belonged to her paternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Marshall Petet, who carried it when, as Ola Robertson, she became a bride.

Dorothy has received some handsome silver as wedding gifts. Although she has been collecting the Fairfax pattern since she was ten years old, there are a number of service pieces which friends have given her to complete her set. One of her most cherished pieces is a silver vegetable dish given her by members of the Georgia Society, Founders and Patriots, of which she is the mascot. Dorothy's grandmother, the late Mrs. J. M. High, organized the chapter and when Dorothy was two weeks old she took her young granddaughter to a meeting and she was made mascot. Last week the society gave a luncheon in her honor at the home of Mrs. J. D. Cromer and presented her the gift.

APPEARING recently in Ruth Brigham's gossip column in the Augusta paragraph pertaining to the election of lovely Martha Cole (Mrs. Parmalee) Watkins to the Augusta Junior League. The item, written in the form of a thumbnail sketch, and holding particular interest for a host of friends here and in Marietta, follows:

"Martha Watkins (Mrs. Parmalee) has much to offer as a new member of the Junior League, for she is not only a charming person socially, but her knowledge of literature should make her a valuable addition to the library group of the league. Martha is the former Martha Cole, of Newnan, Ga., and received her A. B. from Randolph-Macon and her degree in library science from Emory University. Putting her knowledge to practical application, she worked in the library in Marietta, Ga., before her marriage to the present professor of history and citizenship at the Richmond Academy. This attractive blonde and her husband have been residents of Augusta for the past three years, have one son, Mark Cole, and reside on Brunswick road in Forest Hills."

PERHAPS the handsomest wedding present received by Dorothy Petet and Francis Mitchell, whose marriage takes place on Saturday evening, is the Steinway grand piano which is the gift of Dorothy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Petet. Francis made a special trip to New York to select the piano, and the thrilled young couple are counting the days before its delivery here, for both Dorothy and Francis are accomplished musicians.

Dr. Charles Sheldon Jr. has composed special music in honor of Dorothy and Francis to be played just before they enter the church next Saturday. The musical theme is based on the letters contained in the names of the bride and groom, and is called "Deface," which is a combination of the letters used.

Dorothy's wedding ensemble will be featured by an exquisite lace wedding cap which belongs to her mother and was worn by her when, as Dorothy High, she became a bride. It is a coincidence that the family of Russell Hoyt possessed some lace of grandchildren assembled at the invitation of Vera and John O. Chiles. The party took place on the terrace of the Fourteenth street residence of the hosts, and supper was served on the terrace leading into the beautiful garden.

Climaxing the presentation, "Hooray America," to be sponsored by the Decatur Junior Service League on Friday and Saturday, will be an attractive drill number featuring a group of prominent young matrons in military costumes. The group includes, from left to right, Mrs. John W. Weekes, Mrs. Fred Sington and Mrs. Robert Allen. The drill, which will close the program, will end in a V for victory.

Sixteen pink candles adorning an exquisitely embossed cake, denoted something less than a fourth of the age of the honor guest, who has reared three substantial Atlanta citizens in the personages of John O. Chiles, her only son, Rebecca Chiles Kilpatrick and Willie Greene Appleby, her daughters.

"Grannie," as Mrs. Chiles is affectionately known to her grandchildren, is exceedingly proud of Victoria Chiles, her namesake, and younger daughter of Vera and John O. Chiles. Billy and Janet Appleby and Nona Chiles are her other beloved grandchildren. Gifts and flowers were testimonials of the love her family has for Mrs. Chiles, who is noted for her wit, her brilliant mentality and charming manner.

Tallulah Circle To Present First Bona Fide Rodeo Here

Roping and riding in the manner of Zane Gray's dashing heroes, veterans of the range will assemble at Ponce de Leon ball park on November 10 for a five-day championship rodeo that will initiate Atlanta into the ways of the west. The rodeo comes here under the sponsorship of the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah Falls School, who will co-operate with C. L. McLaughlin, manager and director of McLaughlin Amusement Corporation, of Sarasota, Fla.

The indications are that stars of the big rodeo from Madison Square Garden will join in the competitions that draw famous western riders from Pendleton, Ore., and all along the Pacific coast.

The announcement of the rodeo was the outstanding item on the full program that marked the fall meeting of the circle held yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club. The president, Mrs. G. Grady Poole, presented the rodeo committee headed by Mrs. Robert F. Adamson as general chairman, and including Mrs. Carl Sloan, publicity; Mrs. George A. Beattie, tickets; Mrs. Ralph McGill, program production, and Mrs. Ray M. Wilkerson, program distribution. Chairmen of each of the 22 standing committees were asked to take 100 reserved seat tickets and become responsible for selling them. In its 14 years the circle has grown in membership from the original 125 to 800, and each year its contributions to Tallulah Falls School have increased until it has become a bulwark of financial support.

A special memorial to Passie Fenton Ottley in the nature of defense bonds in the Passie Fenton Ottley Endowment Fund was proposed by Mrs. Willard C. Patterson, who accompanied the suggestion with one $25 bond for herself, one for Mrs. Eugene Harrington, one for Mrs. Dan Michelove, of New York; one for Mrs. Granger Hansell, and one for Mrs. Dean S. Paden. This block of bonds, one each of that denomination to be the voluntary contribution of each member of the circle, will constitute "a corner of the garden" sacred to the memory of the funder and godmother of the circle.

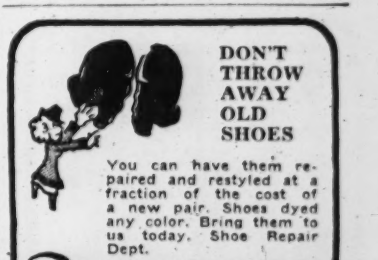

Mrs. Richard D. King, chairman of scholarships, reported $350 just received. Mrs. Blair Foster, treasurer, reported receipt through Mrs. Eugene Harrington of an additional $500 from Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wardlaw for the Passie Fenton Ottley Endowment Fund.

Mrs. Charles T. Pottinger reported an annual scholarship from the circle honoring the immediate past president, Mrs. Keith Quarterman.

Pilgrimage day will take a large group to the school on October 29. The party will leave Atlanta at 8:30 o'clock, arriving at the school in time to make a tour of the buildings and grounds, have luncheon and inspect the arts and crafts shop for gifts and meet the children. Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick, resident trustee, will arrange a special program which the children will present in compliment to their guests.

Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The Atlanta Alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma, their husbands and escorts will be the guests of Mesdames Frederick S. Matthews, J. M. Swan, Edward B. Branch, Emil George, Charles D. Williams and Lewis Hawkins at a picnic supper at grill No. 7 in North Fulton park on Friday evening at 6 o'clock. New Kappas in the city who are interested in affiliating with the Atlanta association are asked to call the president, Mrs. King McCain, Cherokee 3955.

Bette Davis and Ginger Rogers Battle for Honors in Same Film

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15.—(INS) Can you imagine a movie with Bette Davis, Ginger Rogers and Cary Grant battling for acting honors? When I first heard that lineup I didn't think it was possible. The marquee would have to read—Ginger Davis or Bette Rogers or vice versa. Cary, being a gentleman, would come third—and probably willing to do it. Well, believe it or not, that's the deal that's cooking at the moment. The story is "The Hard Way"—a movie which Warner's own in which there are two feminine roles of equal importance and a male role that is also a headliner.

Believe it or not, Ginger and Bette or Bette and Ginger and Cary are greatly interested and it is more than wishful thinking that the three of them may be co-starring. The salaries, to start with, would make this picture one of the most expensive ever brought to the screen.

Sounds like old man prosperity himself has moved into the Republic with the $900,000 adventure special and the $500,000 western for Gene Autry, to say nothing of the Don (Red) Barry serial, "Son of Robin Hood." Today Herbert J. Yates, the president, who is here with M. J. Siegel, studio boss, took time off to tell me that Billy Conn did so well in his first picture, "The Pittsburgh Kid," that they are giving him an important part in "Dodge, Manday Way," with John Wayne as the star and Jerry Colonna in a top spot. Al Wilson, recently appointed as Siegel's assistant, is the producer. The Autry western, "Call of the Canyon," will have a top female name, while "Son of Robin Hood" will be so made that it can be released both as a feature and a serial.

One of the big musical thrills of my life was hearing Paul Robeson introduce "Ballad for Americans" at the Hollywood Bowl last year. Since then this amazing musical-prose number by John La Touche and Earl Robinson has been presented several times on the concert "stage" and over the air—but no singer has been able to pour into this ballad of nationalities that go to make up our American citizenship what the Negro singer puts into it. So inspiring is the number that today comes word that M-G-M will produce "Ballad for Americans" as a movie with Douglas McPhail singing the theme. Edward Ludwig will produce and others lined up for the cast to date are Virginia Weiler, Leo Gorcey and Rags Ragland.

Just before Ben Lyon took off for New York on Saturday, he received word to see David O. Selznick in New York. David wants him to see the play "Clau-dia" and to get Ben's reaction. If Ben likes the play, as he is sure to do since it is a great success, and can be back here within six months, he will probably be signed by Selznick. I have never seen anything like the offers both Bebe and Ben received. They both look so wonderful and there is hardly a producer in town who didn't offer them jobs, but, be that as it may, they are taking the clipper for Lisbon on Saturday. It was hard for those of us who love them to see them leave, but I believe they will be back after they fulfill their engagement with George Black's revue, and their Hi Gang show in London.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Mrs. Victor Mature is bringing her baby to California so she won't have to make these cross-country trips; Judy Canova and her former boy friend, Warren McKinnley, at the Rhythm-Honolulu interlude; Humphries Bogart, who has been very sick with a strep throat, has gone to the desert to recuperate; the Robert Conways are expecting a baby in April; Jack Oakie goes to a ranch in Colorado to reduce and get ready for his next movie; Daisy Lukas greeting her Hollywood friends. She stays here a few days and then rejoins Paul who has had a great hit on Broadway; Harry Warren, who has been very sick, is at St. Vincent's hospital for an operation; M. J. A. Eddy, wife of the publicist, is reported resting easy after a major operation.

As smart for tea-time gayety as for a business luncheon, this new fall blouse has an ageless charm. Hand-made of pure silk satin, the front has rows of tucks and hand-fagoting. This same fagoting finishes the cuffs and surrounds the Peter Pan collar. This blouse is under $7. To learn where it can be found, call Winifred Ware at The Constitution, WA. 6565.

Equally flattering to dowager and debutante, this hand-made blouse has a smart V neckline and long, full sleeves. Hand-fagoting down the front and on the collar is repeated on the cuffs and on the twin pockets. This blouse is under $9. ## Your Figure Is as Young As Your Waistline

By Ida Jean Kain.

If we take two girls of approximately the same height and normal weight, one with a 25-inch waistline and the other a 28-inch waistline, the first will look streamlined and the other plump. Not only that, but the streamlined model will appear a good 12 pounds slimmer and five years younger.

But while both are normal weight, it's only the slim-waisted girl who has normal tonicity of the waistline muscles. She has firm, compact muscle tissue, which weighs more than flabby tissue, but takes up considerably less space. For this reason, both may weigh the same in spite of the very different figures they cut.

You can do as few as three exercises a day and they will slim down your waist—in fact, your entire midsection. The technique is to start slowly and gradually increase the number of repetitions and to relax completely at the end of each exercise. If you are concentrating on this specific measurement, break up the routine by stretching, swinging the arms and legs about to stimulate circulation in various muscle groups. Then go on to your next waistline. Here is a good trio:

Position: Standing on knees, knees slightly apart, arms stretched high overhead.

Movement: Keeping hips stationary, bend sideways exactly at the waistline. Straighten and stretch, then bend to other side. The trick is not to let the hips bow out as you bend sideways. Six bends will be plenty for the first time.

To increase the bend—use a wand—the handle off your carpet sweeper is fine.

Position: Standing on knees, knees apart, arms stretched overhead with hands grasping wand near each end.

Movement: Bend acutely sideways as in the first exercise, but this time touch end of wand to floor at side. Straighten, stretch, bend. Six times, later 12.

Without the wand for the third exercise.

Position: Again standing on knees, but with knees together, hands clasped high overhead.

Movement: As you bend to one side, sit down on floor at opposite side. That is, bend at the waist to the right, bend sit down at the left side of your back-stretched lower legs. Then with the aid of your own good muscles, pull yourself up again, bend to left and sit down to right. This isn't easy, but it is a corker for getting the waistline muscles back in tone. Three times on each side, later six, later 12.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

Uncle Sam asks you not to forget the importance of meat to repair body tissues, to provide iron for good red blood, to insure a daily supply of the B vitamins. But you in your woman's wisdom know that you must buy meat with an eye to flavor and thrift. And so I commend to you two meats with both these advantages: shank of Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham and Certified Bacon, Family Style.

THRIFT TIP FOR HAM

Do you know that the meat on the shank end of Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham is as richly flavored, as tender as the choice center slices?

Tender Made Ham needs no cooking. In using the shank, slice enough delicious meat for a cold platter or (if you wish it hot) broil the slices together with slices of tomatoes and mounds of canned corn.

This should leave you several cups of shank meat. Use this for creamed ham on waffles in the following menu:

Use Balance In Arranging Flowers

Graceful flower arrangements that win gasp "oh's" of approval from your friends—you could make them yourself! Know a little about the principles of arranging flowers artistically and you don't need expensive materials.

For instance in winter when flowers are scarce you can make fascinating bouquets with foliage, twigs, berries or fruits—and a flower or two culled from your house plants, perhaps.

The use of weight to balance height is the thing. In other words, most of the larger, more substantial pieces, such as leaves, fruits and geranium blooms are placed low on one side to balance the height of the twigs. Trailing fruits and cones at the base of the vase further carry out the plan.

The base itself is easy to make. Just cut out three blocks of wood the proper shape. Then wax, varnish or lacquer the twigs. Arrange with the vase or its surroundings.

Following such simple tips you could make gorgeous arrangements for your home, church or club.

Our new 40-page booklet, "Flower Arrangement Made Easy," explains the principles of simple flower arrangement, how to use all types of flower materials. Advises on containers, bases, accessories—tells how to make holders.

Send 15 cents in coins for our booklet, "FLOWER ARRANGEMENT MADE EASY," to Home Institute, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

Vertical Lines Flatter the Heavy Figure

By Lillian Mae.

Pattern 4909. Are your hips too broad? Are your shoulders too wide? Then you'll need this figure-slimming frock by Lillian Mae, pattern 4909, designed especially for the larger woman. Three panels in the front of the dress run from neck-to-hem, giving you those eye-deceiving lines that camouflage extra weight and add to your height. The side bodice sections give a pointed lower waistline effect, and a belt may start at either side of the front panels and tie in the back. The back has one slim center panel cut on princess lines. Sleeves may be short, three-quarter or long, and the two front panels may be made of color contrast as shown. The sewing instructor helps you!

Pattern 4909 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 takes 4 yards 35-inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Just the cream of the 1941-42 fashion crop is shown in the new Lillian Mae pattern book. Order your copy today—you'll find page after page of original, easy-to-make modes for every age and hour. ## MY DAY British Home Guard Sings for Guns

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.—I feel very content today because we have spent the whole day meeting with the regional directors who work in the nine corps areas to establish the program for civilian defense. I think, for the first time, that these gentlemen, to say nothing of us in the office here, are getting procedures clarified and understanding the work we have to do and the way in which we have to do it.

This afternoon we all met the regional directors of the Federal Security Agency and cleared our method of co-operation. This was another long step forward.

Of course, we work with many other groups, both public and private. But the programs carried on by the Federal Security Agency, which are long-range programs, are in themselves part of civilian defense. Without real co-operation between the Office of Civilian Defense and the office of the Administration of Federal Security, it would be practically impossible to set up for our volunteers work of permanent value in making this country stronger now and in the future.

Last night Dr. John Studebaker and Dr. Ambrose Caliver and several of their assistants brought over the transcription of their radio program, "Freedom's People." The Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Morgenthau and Lord and Lady Mountbatten were with us. We all sat and listened with great pleasure to this program, which will be followed by others, all of which I hope will be equally interesting and well carried out. After we listened to this program, Lord Mountbatten brought in the records of two songs by Noel Coward, which have been a great success in London lately. One is called "London Pride," and is charming. The other has to be approached with a sense of humor. It was written to stimulate the British government to giving proper consideration and equipment to the home guard. It is fairly satirical, but they tell me it achieved its object and the home guard got the guns it wanted!

Busy Mother Has Best Grip on Youth

By Dr. William Brady.

A letter dated "August, 1941," puts old Doc Brady on the spot. Do you call getting up at 6 a. m., giving three baths, getting breakfast for five, doing a big washing including baby things, giving a six-room dwelling a thorough cleaning, and all the other jobs that turn up every day, laziness? Your recent statement that "mothers become stout from laziness, not from child-bearing," is very unfair to us mothers who are conscientious about our homes and our children. I am 22 years old and have had three children in the past three years. (Mrs. T. L. M.) In this instance I plead not guilty. I never said any such thing.

On numerous occasions I have said, in this column, that the mother who does all her own housework and has full care of her own children is fortunate, for she is more likely to preserve her good health, youth, girlish figure, domestic happiness and well-being than is the mother who delegates or shifts these duties or responsibilities to servants in order to follow social or other interests external to the home.

Mind, now, this is not to imply that housework is the only proper activity for a matron. Golf, bowling, tennis, swimming, skiing, skating, bicycling, hiking and numerous other physical activities are as good or better for the woman who is not yet an old woman, if she will engage in such activities regularly enough. But I repeat, the young mother who takes full care of her own children and does all her own housework has a better grip on her youth, beauty and happiness than any woman who hires her work done or pays for the privilege of looking on while others play.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Gammag, International and U. S. P. Units

What is the difference between gammag, international and U. S. P. units of vitamins? (M. H.)

Answer: The gamma is equal to one microgram, 100 micrograms or gammag equal one milligram, and one milligram equals about 333 International Units or U. S. P. units. Before long this confusion will be cleared up and one system of measurement employed.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By Edyth Thomas Wallace.

Father: "My salary has been cut and I'll need your help in changing our manner of living so that we can make ends meet."

Son: "Sure. We can do it. We might move to a smaller house."

It is impossible as well as inadvisable to exclude children from whatever comes.

Daughter: "What's the matter, Mother? You look worried."

Mother: "Oh, nothing. I just have a little headache."

Son: "Dad looks bothered, too."

Father: "Nonsense. I'm all right."

A Standing Date Becomes a Problem

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

I have been in love with an Army man for six months. He has told me that I am the only girl he has ever loved. Recently we quarreled. He can come to see me only on weekends, and that is when I have standing dates with Tom. Tom is in love with me and has been very nice but I do not love him. The Army boy wants me to break dates for him, but I do not want to hurt Tom. Should I tell Tom that I love this other boy? Tom is very jealous of me, and has threatened the other boys I date. I got a letter from the Army boy wanting to know if I had changed my mind about going with him on the weekends. He is waiting for an answer. The answer I give him will mean a great deal in the future. The thing that worries me is that I am not sure of his love. Should I go with the one I love or the one who loves me?

A. D. F. The sensible thing to do would be to change your dates with Tom for other nights during the week and keep the weekend free. After all the Army boy has just so much time and if he wants to come to see you, the least you could do would be to arrange your affairs according to his convenience. Tom is there all the time, so have dates with him on other nights. If you love the boy in the Army, do what you can to see him. Do not pay any attention to Tom's jealousy. You are letting him see you are afraid of him, that is why he acts as he does. By all means write the Army boy and tell him to come to see you this weekend. You will not be breaking dates with Tom if you change them to another night, so tell him you have rearranged things. Only time will prove his love for you. As long as you both love each other now, do not be puzzled but let the future take care of itself.

HOLD FAST TO OTHER FRIENDS

Dear Dixie:

I am in love with a grand boy and he loves me, too. We are both young. He has given up his other friends for me, but I still go with other boys. I know it hurts him for me to do this, although he does not let me know that it worries him. When I am with other boys, I do not enjoy myself. I think of him all the time. I know he is true to me. Would you suggest that I go only with him and give up my other friends? He wants to marry me when we are older. What can I do?

I NEED ADVICE. To be on the safe side I think you had better go with all the boys. Since you are not officially engaged to the boy, I do not think it would be a good idea to give up all your friends. If he has not asked you to stop going with them, why do you think it hurts him? Perhaps he wants you to have a good time.

CITY OFFERS MORE SECURITY FOR OLDER COUPLE

Dear Dixie:

My husband and I are past 60 years old and neither of us are able to work any more because of our health. We have a home in the country and also in the city. We are living in the country home now, but it is very inconvenient. The nearest doctor is 12 miles. What do you think would be best for us to do, move to the city and rent out half our house, or rent out our country place? There is nothing we can do on the farm. We lived in the city for 20 years when the children were in school, but now that they are married and just the two of us, we moved out in the country and lived in the country for the past seven years. We cannot make up our mind which is the best to do. What do you think?

UNDECIDED.

At your age I think the thing for you to do would be to move into town where you may have conveniences and will be near a doctor. Rent part of your home, but do not sell it, nor the one in the country. Keep both for a means of income. If possible rent out the country place.

Mr. & Mrs. Dobbs Honor Couple

Among enjoyable affairs of last evening was the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Willis Dobbs at their home on Oakdale road for Miss Henrietta Redwine, and her fiancé, Lieutenant Douglas Dennis. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Dennis and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Patridge assisted in entertaining.

The lace-covered table in the dining room was centered with a silver bowl filled with white snapdragons, lilies and chrysanthemums and flanked by silver candelabra holding lighted white tapers.

Invited for the affair were 50 friends of the honor couple.

Earlier in the day the bride-elect was central figure at the beautifully appointed luncheon given by Mrs. C. A. Rauschenberg and Miss Lucy Rauschenberg at the Mirador room of the Capital City Club.

An oblong arrangement of water hyacinths extended the length of the table, and place cards were miniature bridesmaids' hats carrying out a color scheme of lavender and yellow.

Covers were laid for 12 guests, including the bride-elect's wedding attendants.

University Women To Give Tea

Junior group of the American Association of University Women will meet for a membership tea on Sunday at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Dorothy Henry, 2096 Ponce de Leon avenue.

A program on china and pottery has been arranged for the meeting by Miss Joan Bailey. Those desiring transportation to the meeting will please call Miss Sara Frances McDonald, Vernon 1558.

Personal To Fat Girls

Now you may slim down your face and figure without starvation dieting or back-breaking exercises. Just eat sensibly and take Marmola under the conditions and according to directions on the package.

Marmola Tablets have been sold to the public for more than thirty years. More than twenty million boxes have been distributed during that period.

Marmola is not a cure-all. Marmola is for adult fat persons whose fatness is caused by a thyroid deficiency (hypothyroidism) but who are otherwise normal and healthy. We do not make any diagnosis as to the function of your physician, who must be consulted for that purpose. Why not try to lose those ugly, uncomfortable pounds the Marmola way? Get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

Miss Brannen Reveals Plans For Wedding to Mr. Norville

Miss Kathleen Taylor Brannen, of College Park, and Richard George Norville, of Maryville, Tenn., and Mobile, Ala., whose engagement was announced recently, reveal today the plans for their forthcoming marriage.

The marriage of the popular young couple will be solemnized on November 8 at 3:30 o'clock at Saint Anthony's Catholic church with Rev. Father Nicholas Quinlan officiating. A musical program will be presented by Miss Nell Jentzen, organist, and Miss Florence Modena, vocalist, prior to and during the ceremony.

The bride-elect has chosen her sister, Mrs. L. S. Rentz, of Atlanta, as her matron of honor, and Miss Beverly Craigsmiles, of Brunswick, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids will include Miss Judie Wing, of Atlanta, and Miss Mary Barnes, of Augusta.

The bride-to-be will be given in marriage by her cousin, William Franklin Sibley Jr., and acting as best man for the groom-elect will be his brother, Warren Norville, of Mobile.

The usher-groomsman will include John Brannen, cousin of the bride-elect, and L. S. Rentz; Charles Person and Harold Franklin, of Maryville, Tenn.; John Roberts and Lawrence E. Gralapp, of Mobile.

After the ceremony Mrs. Brannen will entertain at a reception at the College Park Women's Club for her daughter and Mr. Norville.

A series of social affairs have been planned to honor Miss Brannen and her fiancé preceding their marriage, among these being a morning coffee on Thursday given by Mrs. Eugene Cox at her home in Decatur. Mrs. Wesley Warren will entertain with a bathroom shower at her home in College Park on October 18.

Miss Judie Wing will fete the bride-elect at a luncheon on October 25. On November 1 Miss Cornelia Cook will entertain with a miscellaneous shower at her home in College Park and on November 6 Miss Beverly Craigsmiles and Miss Mary Barnes will entertain members of the wedding party at a dinner party in the Paradise room.

Mrs. Stacy Ernest Hill will entertain with a cocktail party at her home on Vernon road on November 7. After the party given by Mrs. Hill the Brannen-Norville bridal party and out-of-town guests will be entertained with a buffet supper at the Athletic Club by Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Rentz, this affair preceding the wedding rehearsal.

A tea was given recently for the bride-elect by Mrs. R. T. Adair at her home in College Park. Others who will entertain for the lovely bride-elect are Mrs. Charles Trowbridge, of College Park, and Miss Susie Daniel.

Miss Brownlee Feted at Parties

Miss Mary Jo Brownlee, whose marriage to Dr. Harry A. Crosswell will be a fashionable event of tomorrow, was honored yesterday at two interesting parties. The first of these was the luncheon given by Mrs. Frank Dean at the Piedmont Driving Club.

The luncheon table was centered with a graceful arrangement of yellow and white flowers, corsages of similar flowers marking the guests' places, the bride-elect's place being designated by a spray of orchids. Placecards were in the form of paper dolls dressed in yellow bridesmaids' dresses, Miss Brownlee's namecard being a replica of a bride.

Covers were laid for Mesdames W. M. Brownlee, H. M. Crosswell, Ernest Smith, Edward Wright, Raymond Arp, and Misses Marion Dean, Martha Merritt, Helen Randall, Jane LeRoux, Fannie Pease, Glo Major, of Monroe, La.

Last evening Miss Lil Youngs honored Miss Brownlee at a spinsters' supper at her home on Cornell road.

The table in the dining room was overlaid with an imported cloth and centered with crystal container holding pink shaggy chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Louise Youngs assisted her daughter in entertaining the guests, who included Mrs. W. M. Brownlee, Mrs. H. M. Crosswell and Miss Brownlee's bridal attendants.

Assisting List Announced For Miss Dulaney's Debut

Forecasting the brilliant series of affairs at which members of the 1941-42 Debutante Club will be formally presented to society is the announcement made today of the prominent Atlantans who will assist Mrs. Cobb Dulaney in entertaining at the reception in honor of her attractive young daughter, Miss Virginia Dulaney.

Miss Dulaney will make her formal bow at an elaborate reception on the afternoon of November 4, the affair to be held at the Dulaney residence on Rivers road between the hours of 4 and 6. Several hundred members of the married and unmarried contingents will call at this time to pay homage to the popular debutante.

Members of the married contingent who will assist Mrs. Dulaney are Mesdames Henry Troutman, Robert Troutman, John M. Slaton, Murray Shoun, Donald McClain, E. M. Runson, Archibald Gann, Brooks Morgan, H. Grady Black, John Oliver Jr., Dan MacDougald, James White, of Athens, and Henry B. Tompkins.

A group of sub-debs who will also assist include Misses Alice Dulaney, Jane Campbell, Virginia Harrison and Laura Burgess.

Miss Dulaney was central figure last evening at the elaborate buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Grady Black and Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Gann at the home of the former on Piedmont avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Cobb Dulaney, parents of the honor guest, and Mrs. Donald McClain assisted in entertaining.

Colorful autumnal flowers were used in the decorations of the reception rooms, the table in the dining room having for its centerpiece a silver epergne holding an arrangement of fruit in jewel tones.

A musical program, presented by Graham Jackson, was enjoyed during the evening.

Invited for the occasion were 50 members of the younger social contingent.

Love Will Come Again

Cherry Comes Out on the Terrace; Finds a Girl About To Commit Suicide

By Alma Sioux Scarberry.

SYNOPSIS. April and Kent Hillier come to a parting of the ways after six years of married life. They are very much in love but Kent, of Hill is known to April and his friends, refuses to settle down and go to work. When most of his life's fortune has been dissipated, he thinks it is all right for April to better their income by giving voice lessons in the Hillier-Lorraine School of Music and Dance which she has founded with her life-long friend and companion, Gay Lorraine. En route home from Reno by plane, April meets Curt De Witt, millionaire steel magnate. He steps from the plane with her to find Hill waiting for her at the airport. He has been drinking and is angry at seeing April with Curt. After a brief exchange with April, Hill leaves in a huff. Hill becomes engaged to a wealthy and notorious divorcee, Drusilla Bayne. During April's absence in Reno, Cherry, her 18-year-old sister, is very much upset by April's divorce and is determined to be a model and "gold digger." She finds employment as a model and starts going around with a very fast crowd. Pat comes to visit Cherry and attempts to dissuade her, April also tries to her but is unable to shake the young girl's stubborn determination. Gay arranges a radio audition for April and it is successful. She gets a sponsor immediately and becomes April Lind on the radio. Curt attends the premiere and proposes to April on the way home. She permits him to kiss her but declines his proposal. She meets Hill on Fifth avenue and accepts his invitation for a cocktail together. She chides Hill for his neglect of her since his divorce and he gets angry. In his anger he tells her that Curt owns the company which is sponsoring her radio program. Gay confirms Curt's ownership of the company and admits that he had suggested the audition for April. Cherry goes to a pen-house party with socially prominent Brett Hobart, who has been scolding her around town.

INSTALLMENT XVII.

Cherry walked down a corridor and opened another door. A blast of cold air told her it led to the terrace. Then Cherry heard a voice.

"Stay away from me, don't come near me," a girl was saying almost incoherently. "I'm going to jump! You can't stop me!"

Cherry froze where she stood. She couldn't have made a sound to save her life. For the one poised on the railing of the terrace only a few feet away was a small figure.

It seemed hours to Cherry before her brain began to function so that she could move or cry out to the girl standing poised to leap to her death 10 floors below. Cherry's white face was a mask of horror.

Finally reason took the place of her fear and she found her voice to say as soothingly as possible:

"No, no you mustn't. Let—let's talk about it first. Wait—wait." Slowly Cherry's trembling knees took her closer to the little coatless figure standing with her evening gown blowing wildly in the winter breeze. Cautiously, Cherry picked up the fur coat that had been thrown in a heap at the girl's feet. The girl watched her with wild, unseeing eyes, and Cherry prayed that she would not turn and fall to the street below before she got her hand on her.

"Here," Cherry said, her teeth chattering. "Let's put your coat around your shoulders. It's terribly cold. You—you'll catch an awful cold. Here, I'll help you." Suddenly Cherry with all of her strength flung the coat around the girl's shoulders and struggled to pull her from the railing. The dazed girl seemed to realize that Cherry was trying to keep her from carrying out her purpose and with a wild cry tried to fling Cherry from her.

But Cherry, with a strength born of fear, held on grimly, and soon the two girls were in a death grip, their screams riding the wind and reaching to the street below. Officer Brannan, directing traffic on his beat a half block away, looked up suddenly and saw the drama that was being unfolded on the terrace so high above his head. At first he thought his eyes were deceiving him. It must be two people dancing. But why, he asked himself, would two fools be carrying on like that on the railing of a terrace? Nobody could get that drunk.

Forgetting the traffic, Brannan ran toward the building, calling to a plainclothes man passing by to send for help.

After what seemed endless hours to Cherry, she had managed to pull the girl from the railing, and for several seconds they fought madly over the terrace floor. Cherry saw a small table with an iron vase on it out of the corner of her eyes and moved toward it, fighting as she went.

Suddenly, clenching her teeth, she dropped her arms from the panting, screaming girl and brought the vase down on her head. The girl fell heavily at her feet. Cherry staggered backward where she fainted, falling in a little heap in the doorway.

It was Lola who returned and found Cherry lying where she had fallen. "Cherry!" she screamed. "What has happened? What's wrong?" Lola stopped and shook Cherry frantically, but had the presence of mind to pull her inside and close the door. Then she ran to call for help. Lola found Si Winters at the front door with a breathless policeman.

"What's goin' on out on your terrace here," the officer demanded. "Two women—fighting like wild cats on the terrace railing."

Lola understood what had happened to Cherry. Her hand went to her mouth in a gesture of fear. She turned to her dazed host: "Cherry must have seen it. She—she's fainted. C—come quickly. I—I had gone back for my compact. I—"

"Cherry who?" the officer wanted to know. "Was she a witness?"

Lola shivered. "She must have been. We were on our way to the terrace. I had left my compact in the powder room. When I got back—Cherry was lying in the door."

The officer pushed Winters aside. "There's something funny goin' on here. Don't let anybody get away, Winters. You wait here."

Si walked stiffly to the bar and picked up a drink.

"Listen, everybody," his voice shook when he had gulped the glass of brandy. "Something has happened. The police say no one can leave. I'm sorry."

Baering Down on the News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer.

I haven't heard from Mahatma Gandhi since the international jewel thieves were after his safety pin.

He just made a speech at Wardha saying he hoped that exhaustion would bring peace. Well, Mahatma, that's something like the ghost chasing the colored man two nights and a day.

Finally, the ghost caught up because the colored man was exhausted. He tapped him on the shoulder and said, "That was a nice run we had."

The colored man replied, "Yassah, and soon's I get my wind back, we're goin' to have another one just like it."

Mahatma, I'm afraid a tired armistice would only last until one of the contestants got his wind back.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES)—The morning hours and until 3 p. m. are likely to be filled with petty irritations. This is a time to use caution in travel, communication, in the making of contracts and anything that requires your signature. The remainder of the day and evening you will want to work at full speed, as much can be accomplished.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS)—During the day and until 9:40 p. m. influences abound that often bring elaborate schemes, but may prove to be too elaborate in their expense. Use care in making contracts, communications and promises. After 9:40 p. m. favors financial and educational works.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)—The entire day and evening with the exception of the period between 12:30 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. favors plans that have been thoughtfully considered, new and energetic activities, business and professional efforts.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER)—Previous to 12:30 p. m. favors consultations, written matter, travel or for large activities. The day does not appear to favor making changes or undertaking new beginnings.

July 23rd and August 22nd (LEO)—Before 3:30 p. m. holds conservative influences, favoring affairs of a substantial nature, getting at things in a positive way and finishing up what has been dragging. After 3:30 p. m. radical changes or departures from ordinary proceedings should be guarded against.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO)—Throughout the entire day and until 9 p. m. is not a favorable time for asking favors, especially the seeking of a raise. Previous to 8:40 p. m. suggests caution in travel. After 9 p. m. favors social and domestic relations.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA)—This is an excellent day for important agreements, sociability and work relating to entertainment. The best aspects of the day operate previous to 5 p. m.

October 23rd and November 21st (SCORPIO)—The influences prevailing previous to 1:30 p. m. are the most favorable of the day, for affairs will tend to go right with less effort. Financial gains, literary efforts, preferment of some sort, accompany these influences. The remainder of the day and evening do not especially favor new beginnings.

November 22nd and December 21st (SAGITTARIUS)—Before 12:30 p. m. use care and economy in any financial undertaking. Between 12:30 p. m. and 7:24 p. m. you will accomplish more by working alone, as others may not get the proper perspective of your ideas. After 7:24 p. m. favors writing and communications.

December 22nd and January 19th (CAPRICORN)—The best aspects of the day appear to operate previous to 2:20 p. m. This period favors general business activities, financial, literary and educational matters. The remainder of the day favors following established methods and sticking to routine pursuits.

January 20th and February 18th (AQUARIUS)—After 12:47 p. m. favors practical work and dealings with people of a conservative nature, but does not favor making sudden changes. The period suggests sticking to routine.

February 19th and March 20th (PISCES)—Before 3:00 p. m. holds conservative influences, favoring matters of a substantial nature, getting at things in a positive way and finishing up what has been dragging. After 3:00 p. m. radical changes or departures from ordinary proceedings should be guarded against.

HEAD NOT RIGHT.
Tallulah Bankhead was advertised on the marquee of the CBS theater from where Charles Martin's "Playhouse" is heard Friday nights. A girl and boy, walking along Broadway, noticed it. "Look," said the girl, "a radio program and bankhead." She read too fast!

"Bright Horizon" serial, which recently made its debut on the air, distinguishes itself by having a lady announcer—Marjorie Anderson—and a sound effects lady—Ora Nichols.

Jack Benny is having his usual troubles while in New York, with members failing to show up for rehearsals. It's the same old excuse, "Nobody told me," although any such statement immediately brings forth up to 15 minutes of the contrary. Jack wonders if he is running a kindergarten.

Town Meeting Weighs Repeal Of Neutrality*Senator Clark Takes Side in Fall Premiere Broadcast on Air.

"Should Congress Repeal the Neutrality Act?" Senator D. Worth Clark, Idaho, Democrat, and Lynn Stambaugh, newly elected national commander of the American Legion, will debate that question on the season's premiere broadcast of America's Town Meeting of the Air tonight beginning at 9:15 p. m., over the NBC-Blue network, and WAGA. George C. Denny Jr. will be moderator.

With the impending return of the popular NBC forum Denny, founder and moderator of the series, in outlining plans for the new season, has announced the program policy will be on a day-to-day basis. Denny said: "Town Meeting will not hesitate to change subjects overnight if a change in world events makes that advisable. We shall continue to present. The program will not only continue to deal with controversial issues, but whenever possible will present the leading public figures involved in the controversies, assuring equal representation for both sides."

"For example," said Denny, "if we are to present Mr. Henderson on a program which discusses the Price Control Bill we will try to present Mr. Taft on the same program; if we ask Mr. Morgenthau for a discussion of the tax question, we shall ask Mr. Byrd to present also. Among the questions already scheduled as possibilities are whether or not the United States should openly declare war on Germany; censorship of war news; strikes in defense industries; a federal union of the countries in the Western Hemisphere, and mobilization of women in defense industries."

Auto Production Is Ordered Slashed 51 Per Cent In '42

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Defense officials gave the automobile industry a double-barreled jolt today, ordering a 51 per cent cut in passenger car production in January, and warning simultaneously that materials shortage would probably force a much greater curtailment.

Leon Henderson, civilian supply director of the Office of Production Management, declared he had made no effort to fix a quota for January but, instead, was setting a maximum limit "to which the manufacturer can produce—if they are successful in obtaining sufficient materials."

He said several companies already had reported difficulties in obtaining strip steel and asserted this situation would be further complicated by rapidly increasing demands of defense industries for more steel and other scarce materials.

36.3 Per Cent Slash

The January, 1942, maximum was set at 204,848 passenger cars, compared with 418,350 produced in January, 1941. Considering previous production cuts ordered by Henderson, the industry therefore faces a production slash of 36.3 per cent during the first six months of the model year which began August 1.

If materials hold out, production can reach 1,228,063 cars during the six months, compared with 1,928,517 in a comparable period of the last model year.

But Henderson made it plain that he thought the figures optimistic and that "it appears likely that next January's output will fall considerably below the maximum."

In another defense development, Donald M. Nelson, OPM director, informed the Senate Defense Investigating Committee that plans were being prepared to take over large stocks of vital defense materials now idle in this country.

For example, he said that 1,378,000 pounds of copper had been in warehouses since 1938. Some of the metal, he said, was "owned by the Axis powers." If the government is unable to buy such stocks at fair prices, he said, it is empowered under a recent requisitioning law to take them over and fix payment, subject to later adjudication in the courts.

600,000 CARS PRODUCED SINCE AUGUST 1

DETROIT, Oct. 15.—The motor car industry has produced approximately 600,000 passenger cars and trucks since the start of the new automotive year on August 1; in the same period a year ago the industry's assembly plants turned out 575,000 vehicles.

The figures would seem to indicate that despite the government-ordered curtailment of passenger car output the factories have been doing fairly well in assembly volume. The facts are, however, that the total included a large number of commercial units not under restriction and that the actual effects of the curtailment are just now about to be felt.

Last year at this time the assembly plants were gathering momentum for what was to prove one of the biggest production years in the industry's history. Now they not only are near the top of permitted production quotas but are facing possible shortages of materials and no little uncertainty regarding retail demand.

Because of the uncertainties of consumer demand, today's announcement from Washington that not more than 204,848 passenger vehicles could be produced in January, 1942, brought no comment from manufacturers' representatives. They had expected a much heavier reduction.

PREACHER RELATIVES AT KIRKWOOD—Pastor J. R. Turner with a group of Kirkwood Methodists who are closely related to ministers, attending the midweek prayer service last night. Of 1,200 members of the Kirkwood Methodist church more than 200 are preacher-relatives as near as first cousin, or nearer.

Church Boasts 200 Members Are Kin of Pastors

By DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.
In the matter of communicants directly related to ministers, the Kirkwood Methodist church should be a blue ribbon winner in a contest.

Of the 1,200 members in that church more than 200 of them are directly related to preachers as closely as first cousin or closer. Should more distant relationships be counted, the number would be doubled.

In the picture accompanying this story only a small portion of the large number of preacher-relatives, showing that portion that attended the midweek prayer service Wednesday night. That so large a number were at the midweek service is commendable in itself, Pastor J. R. Turner thinks.

Here's something of the line-up of preacher kinsfolk at Kirkwood: On the board of stewards are seven who are sons of preachers, one is a preacher's grandson, while four stewards married daughters of preachers. Four other stewards married granddaughters of preachers, and three are brothers of ministers.

In the church membership 41 persons are preachers' children, 52 are grandchildren of preachers, while 28 are great-grandchildren of ministers. Eight women married preachers, five have preacher sons. Twenty-two of the members have brothers in the ministry, and 11 have ministerial uncles.

Under the pastoral guidance of the Rev. Turner, the Kirkwood church is promoting an active building program involving some $20,000 on the pay-as-you-go plan. All finances of the congregation are in good shape, it is reported, with promise of paying 100 cents on the dollar this year on all arrearages. There has been a net gain of 41 new members this year.

Inez Robb Says:

'Fountain of Youth' Comes True

By INEZ ROBB.
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(INS)—The skin you love to touch, as clear, firm and smooth as at 16, was foreshadowed tonight in a mechanized "Fountain of Youth" unveiled at the annual meeting of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

This panzer product for the face, which makes a picker out of Ponce de Leon, is expected to banish crow's feet, wrinkles, sagging cheeks and undulating chins.

It was described in some detail tonight by its inventor, Charles Nessler, 70, revered in his profession the world round as the man who founded the modern beauty shoppe through his invention of the permanent wave.

Any beauticians who attended Nessler's lecture at the Pennsylvania hotel tonight in order to scoff, must have had their moments of prayer when they surveyed Nessler's own ruddy face, on which he has been experimenting for years. Nary a wrinkle mars his smooth surface, nary a blemish impairs the fine texture of his skin.

As further proof that his machine can produce eternal youth or a reasonable facsimile thereof, Nessler held out first his right hand and then his left. His right paw is the veined, wrinkled hand of a man of 70. His left flipper is the soft, smooth, unlined hand of a youth of 20, whose toll has been confined to signing checks.

"Air-cooled friction," Nessler explained, is the principle of the machine he claims will give a new lease on life to ladies whose faces have been lifted so often their fallen arches are inverted. Indeed, plastic surgeons whose principal trade is rimming and tightening sagging faces can henceforth go jump in the lake as the easiest way out.

A small machine, making 1,700 revolutions a minute, whisks soft paper repeatedly over the skin. Nessler, who was almost laughed out of business 40 years ago when he claimed he had invented a permanent wave, says that his new machine through friction constantly removes all dead skin and impurities from the skin surface. He is convinced that nature always has and always will provide a continuous reproduction of such tissue.

This courtly, white-haired man says that skepticism regarding his new machine is no more discouraging today than similar skepticism was in the past.

Guardia to Serve Panama in U. S.

PANAMA, Panama, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Ernesto Jaen Guardia, who served as president of Panama for two hours between the regimes of the overthrow of Dr. Arnulfo Arias and the pro-American Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia, incumbent, was formally named the Panamanian ambassador to the United States tonight.

Guardia, who is also Panama's second vice president, will leave for Washington by plane tomorrow morning, going via Mexico and accompanied by his first secretary, Max Huertemate.

cism in London in 1905 over his permanent wave. A year or two later, the crowned feminine heads of Europe were paying him $1,000 per permanent. He haughtily refused a mere $750 for the kind of hair treatment now readily available to every American shopgirl at bargain prices.

Bishop Moore Urges Church To Be Militant

Methodist Conference of North Georgia Hears Leader.

By DEAN BROOME.

GREENSBORO, Ga., Oct. 15.—An awakening from the "spiritual fatigue" that has settled over the world is the only thing that can save our present "tottering if not crumbling" civilization, Bishop Arthur J. Moore, of the North Georgia Methodist conference, declared here today.

In a militant sermon to 400 Methodist ministers and church leaders of this section, Bishop Moore called for a "sober, clear-eyed view" of the fact that "we are caught in the undertow of our materialistic civilization, and are being swept almost imperceptibly away from Christianity."

Bishop Urges Action.
He charged Methodists to "recapture confidence and courage" and urged "a new looking forward with hope."

"In this disturbed world, when vast sections of earth have fallen into the hands of plunderers, we must not be robbed of our vitality," he declared. "This is an hour when the Christian church must gird for its greatest battle."

"We must have a reevaluation of standards. The modern world is a product of either non-Christian or anti-Christian forces."

"There is more cleverness than consecration, more brains than character. We have succeeded in building machines that we can't control, that turn upon us because we don't know how to use them."

Bishop Moore urged "comradeship" rather than "competition" among churches of different denominations, adding that all must awaken to "an expectancy of things spiritual."

He advocated a new "missionary movement" in the general August district Methodist leaders theme of his sermon, text of which came from the last chapter of Matthew.

The occasion was a joint meeting of the Oxford-Decatur and for a report on finances, building and membership.

The Augusta district, with 31 charges, including 61 churches, had a net membership increase of 270 during the past year, L. M. Twigg, superintendent, reported. In the Oxford-Decatur district, 622 members were added in the 35 charges, with 76 churches, according to T. M. Sullivan, superintendent.
